

GERMANS STILL RETREAT BUT RESIST STUBBORNLY AT FRENCH RIGHT CENTER

OUTCOME OF FIERCE EN-GAGEMENT AT VITRY LE FRANCOIS CAUSES AL-LIES SOME ANXIETY.

CRUCIAL BATTLE WAGES

Fear Now Felt in French and Brit- ish Camps That Kaiser's Ar-mies May Turn and Re-trive Recent Reverses.

The French war office an-nounced at three o'clock this afternoon, Paris time, that the Germans in France were retreat-ing generally and were offering only feeble resistance.

A British official announcement says that British troops have crossed the river Ourcq and this morning are pursuing the German right wing whose retreat is rapid. It is declared that the third French army has captured all the artillery of one German army corps.

Up to early afternoon no state-ment had been issued by the Ger-man war office. The latest offi-cial German report said that their forces had captured a fortress southwest of Verdun and news dis-patches indicate a purpose on the part of the general staff to sur-round and cut off from the line of the allies the strongly fortified city of Verdun.

News dispatches indicate that the Russians have not over-whelmed the Austrians in Galicia as had been claimed. Fresh and stubborn fighting in that Austrian province is reported and this has given rise to the speculation that the German corps brought from the west may have been thrown in-to Austria to support the Aus-trians instead of proceeding to East Prussia to re-enforce the Germans already there.

The situation in East Prussia is in doubt but there is nothing to indicate that the Russians have made any notable advance west since their reverse at Allenstein. They were last reported attacking Koenigsburg, while the German troops are said to be moving to-ward that stronghold.

Advices received by the French embassy at Washington tell of the retirement of the German center east of Paris, but these obviously refer to the fighting of yesterday or earlier. The details of which were made known in official dis-patches from Paris last night.

A dispatch from Rome says that Pope Benedict XV has charged foreign cardinals to urge their gov-ernment to cease hostilities and invoke a peace conference.

A news dispatch from Petrograd says that the Servians are contin-uing successfully their offensive operations against Austria.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

London, Sept. 12.—News of a decisive battle of west of Vitry Le Francais, where the army of Saxony and parts of the armies commanded by the Prince of Wurtemberg and General Von Beulow are fiercely fight-ing through the French right and center, still hangs fire, and the anxiety of both forces grows keener, as it is recognized that the result of the battle in this quarter is likely to have a decisive effect upon the whole.

Should the Germans smash through the center of the French line in this district, they would turn the line of the Franco-German frontier forts and seriously complicate the rear of General Campan's Sixth army corps, already engaged in the tilt with a correspond-ing two of Germans before Nancy.

Fear Germans May Turn.

It is fully realized that the driving back of the German right and right center in no way is conclusive and that, as the Franco-German forces rally after their long drive, so may the Germans turn and attack their present reverses.

The while is warned that the pres-ent situation merely is the first phase of a great battle and that the battle itself is only the first stage of a titanic struggle between the nations, which will continue so long as the main forces remain intact as they are at present.

The latest unofficial reports from the plains of Champagne talk of consider-ably larger number of German dead and prisoners being captured than were mentioned in the last offi-cial communication.

Official reports speak of the death of the Germans by troops southward from Antwerp, but while this is no reason to doubt that the invaders are retreating parts of Bel-gian territory, it seems probable that they are purposely avoiding battle, as the main object of their southward move is to get in the fighting zone of the Marne and to relieve pressure.

The official communication says:

BERLIN SAYS ARMY DEFEATS RUSSIANS

WILLIAM'S FORCES REPORTED VICTORIOUS AGAINST THE CAZAR'S TROOPS IN EAST
PRUSSIA.

SERVAINS ON OFFENSE

Serbs Continue Operations With British Success—Fighting of Forces is Near Lemberg.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Petrograd, Russia, Sept. 12.—A de-tailed plan of the proposed march of Austro-German armies through Russia to Perm on the extreme eastern bor-der of European Russia and about seven hundred miles west of Petro-grad, has been found on the body of a commander of Austrian cavalry who was killed at Grodke, in Galicia.

In this fight three Cossack regiments completely overwhelmed nine Hun-garian regiments of cavalry. Two of these Hungarian organizations were nearly wiped out, only thirty men surviving.

British Cross Ourcq.

London, Sept. 12.—Our troops have crossed the river Ourcq and are moving this morning in rapid pur-suit of the enemy.

Following is an announcement given by the official press bureau.

"Two hundred prisoners were cap-tured. The cavalry of the allies was captured between Soissons and Fismes last night.

"The enemy is retreating north of Vitry Le Francais."

According to official announcement made here, the third French army has captured all the artillery of one Ger-man army corps.

The artillery of a German army corps consists of two regiments of field pieces, eighteen batteries of howitzers, one or two batteries of heavy artillery and a machine gun group.

"Our aeroplanes report that the en-my's retreat is very rapid."

Germans Still Retreating.

Washington, Sept. 12.—The follow-ing dispatch from Bordeaux dated yesterday was received today at the French embassy.

"The French general staff made known today that the first German army continued its retirement.

"Three of its army corps were re-pulsed last night between Villers, Collerets and Collosons. We have in four days gained from sixty to seven-ty-five kilometers.

"In the second army, the tenth corps of the guards, driven back to the Saone Gond swamps, are also with-drawing.

"In the Champagne the third Ger-man army is also retreating. The German center is thus at last giving ground.

"After a hard fight in the region between Sezanne and Vitry, in the Aronne, the fourth German army has been pushed back to the west of Remerberg, a turning movement against the Aus-trian flank is proceeding successfully.

French at Vassincourt.

"A fifth German army, after making very serious effort on our right wing, was thrown back. Our troops occu-py Vassincourt.

"The general situation has thus been modified to our advantage during these last days.

On the other side the Austrian army continues to retreat near Tomassow, was forced to a disastrous retreat to the west of Hava Ruska and the Dniester River. The Russians be-sieged Grodke."

Allies Winning Victory.

London, Sept. 12.—A dispatch to the Daily News from Paris says: "A mor-tor car brings news from the front that the first of the second division of the British army, with the French cav-ally and artillery, cut off and defeated a large force of the enemy, six miles north of Paris, taking six thousand prisoners and fifteen guns. The Germans are reported as demoralized."

"The half-starved prisoners ravenously devoured beet and biscuits pro-voked by the British troops.

"During the fight fifty British cy-clists from the cover of a small wood wiped out 150 of the enemy's cavalry.

"The allies' losses were severe, but they are as nothing in comparison to those of the enemy, who is now re-treating to the north of the Marne, west of Ourcq."

Edgians Renew Fighting.

The Associated Press says: "The Daily Telegraph sends the following: "A courier brings news of fighting at Hopstet near Mainz. King Albert noticed out and participated in the general engagement which is appar-ently going well."

The Germany artillery figured con-siderably but the Belgian infantry, well supported by guns, gradually forced the Germans back."

dispatch to the Central News from Paris says: "According to a German general having opposed the delivery of the army's necessities, requisitioned by the Germans, a Belgian force has again occupied Ghent. The neces-saries which had already been pre-pared, were not delivered."

Engagement Near Liege.

Rotterdam, Sept. 11, via London, Sept. 12.—The Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant is informed by a native of Rotterdam that while endeavoring to reach Namur, Thursday he was not permitted to pass beyond Liege.

FRENCH LAUNDRESS FOUGHT WITH COMPANY OF ZOUAVES

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Paris, Sept. 12.—Among the wounded brought to Noisy-Le-Sec, a town in the department of the Seine and near the Ourcq canal, was a young laun-dress in a soldier's uniform. She had followed a company of Zouaves, and had fought along side of them in the trenches.

Complimented for Bravery.

She had fought along side of them in the trenches. Her identity was not discovered until she was wounded. Before sending her to the rear the commanding officer complimented her on her bravery.

TROY AND ALBANY
ENTERTAIN DELEGATES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Delegates to the Deep Waterways convention, now being held in New York City, are still retreating and that they are offering only a feeble resistance to the French and British troops.

The official communication says:

members of the local and Troy mem-

BRITISH CAPTURES GERMAN TEA SHIP

Vessel Reported Seized on High Seas Outside of Manila Bay After Loading Cargo.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Shanghai, China, Sept. 12.—Reports from Hong Kong declare the steamer Singan has been captured by a British warship on the high seas twenty miles outside of Manila bay, from which point the vessel had taken on a cargo of tea from a German boat.

French Cruiser Sighted.

New York, Sept. 12.—A French cruiser was sighted off the coast to-day. The steamer Oregon, upon arriving from Boston reported that the cruiser was about ten miles east of Fire Island shortly before noon.

British Capture Coal.

Cape Town, Sept. 12.—The German bark Heinig, 88 days out from Cardiff with coal and coke, was captured by a British ship and brought to Simons town today.

QUAKE LEVELS TOWN ON PERUVIAN COAST

For Second Time Within Year Small Village South of Country's Cap-i-tal Is Wrecked.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Lima, Peru, Sept. 12.—News has reached here that the tremendous earth-quake has destroyed the city of Caraveli in the department of Arequipa. The report says the people are in a panic, but no mention is made of loss of lives.

Caraveli is a town of about 4,000 inhabitants 130 miles northwest of the port of Mollendo. Early in August a year ago the place was wrecked by an earthquake, but had since been re-built. The district in which Caraveli is situated is subject to frequent earthquakes.

BRITISH OCCUPYING GERMANY'S ISLANDS

Fleet Takes Seat of Government of German Bismarck Archipelago
Near Australia.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

London, Sept. 12.—The admiralty announced this afternoon that the British fleet has occupied Herbertschoe on Blanche bay, the seat of government of the German Bismarck archipelago with an area of 1,000 square miles, and a population of 200,000 is on the north coast of Australia and southeast of the Philippines Islands. The group was assigned to the German sphere of influence by an agreement with Great Britain in 1885. New Guinea is included in the jurisdiction.

GERMAN QUARTERS RAIDED IN LONDON

London Bobbies Aroused by Suspicious
Maneuvers Swoop Down on House and Make Good Find.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

London, Sept. 12.—A pretentious residence within sight of Windsor castle was raided today by the police, who seized a quantity of German correspondence. The occupant of the house, a German, was arrested and is now held in a detention camp for Ger-man prisoners.

The prisoner, whose name is not made public, is said to have moved in the best circles of Windsor and to have entertained members of the royal family.

WAR TAX BILL HELD OVER BY UNDERWOOD

Democratic Leader Decides to Hold Freight Tax Bill Over Until Return of President.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Washington, Sept. 12.—Because of a demand by the Republicans for a tax on the freight tax bill proposed in the war revenue bill, Democratic Leader Underwood today decided to await the return of President Wilson before introducing the measure.

CHILD WILL REMAIN WITH FATHER SAYS JUDGE STEVENS

The petition of Mrs. Fannie J. Wheeler of Beloit to get the custody of her son through an amendment to a divorce decree issued some months ago, was turned down by Judge E. Ray Stevens in Circuit Court yes-terday. The child will still be in the possession of his father, Maurice N. Wheeler of Shopiere.

Will America Carry Her Burden?

Great Britain and Europe, where productive industry have been paralyzed, have mouths to feed, bodies to clothe, constructive operations to carry through, and a thousand-and-one wants and needs to be satisfied—and Great Britain and Europe look to America in confidence for much of the needed supplies.

France spent $400,000,000 in actual expenses on that war and $200,000,000 in repairing ma-terials, giving help to the fatherless families and other uses.

The German dead numbered 28,600. For every one of them France spent approximately $21,000.

The figures of the Russo-Turkish war of 1877-78 give an average of $15,000 for every one killed.

It cost Russia $1,200,000 to kill 58,600 Japanese in the war of 1905, making the cost of the individual slaying $20,400.

Fatigue, typhus or cholera will, of course, kill the greatest number and reduce the effective force of the armies. In the Crimean war four times as many died through disease as were killed in battle. Advanced hygiene will undoubtedly do much to cut down these figures, but death by disease in war times surely cannot be entirely obliterated.

Complimented for Bravery.

She had fought along side of them in the trenches. Her identity was not discovered until she was wounded. Before sending her to the rear the commanding officer complimented her on her bravery.

TROY AND ALBANY
ENTERTAIN DELEGATES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Delegates to the Deep Waterways convention, now being held in New York City, are still retreating and that they are offering only a feeble resistance to the French and British troops.

The official communication says:

members of the local and Troy mem-

BRYAN SEES DAWNING OF A NEW PEACE ERA

SECRETARY OF STATE GIVES STIRRING ADDRESS AT FLAG
CELEBRATION AT BALTI-MORE.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Shanghai, China, Sept. 12.—Reports from Hong Kong declare the steamer Singan has been captured by a British warship on the high seas twenty miles outside of Manila bay, from which point the vessel had taken on a cargo of tea from a German boat.

French Cruiser Sighted.

New York, Sept. 12.—A French cruiser was sighted off the coast to-day. The steamer Oregon,

Smart Fall Shoes

There are a lot of new variations from the stylish English lasts especially in the stitched tip blind eyelet, tan and gun metal leathers, at $4.50 and $5.00; but the most striking style development is the "fancy topper" shoe, black cuff or patent leather with gray cloth top, tan leather with tan cloth top, or even black with tan top; button or lace styles at $5.00

DJUBY & CO.WANT COAL?

We've got it to burn. Best kind too. Carefully selected, clean coal, that is all Coal and not slate or dust.

LUMBER

Our stock is very complete and priced very close. Let us have your orders.

P. H. Quinn & Co.

Prompt Delivery. Office Wall Street.
Bell phone 132. F. C. phone 965 Black.

It Is The Unexpected That Happens

You need accident insurance every day in the year.

Less than seven cents a day will assure an accident policy paying from $5,000 to $16,000 for death and dismemberment, and $25 to $50 weekly for total disability.

TRAVELER'S accident policies are famous for their broad coverage, fair spirit of adjustment and prompt payments.

The Traveler's Insurance Co.

H. E. WEMPLE, District Agent,
411 Jackman Block,
Bell phone, 877; New phone, 1067.

FREDERICK WALTERS EXPIRED ON FRIDAY

Son-in-Law of the Late Solomon Juneau, Succumbs at Son's Home Near Beloit.

Frederick Walters, aged 75 years, a resident of Rock county for forty-five years, passed away at the home of his son, L. C. Walters, in the town of Beloit, at seven o'clock Friday evening. Death followed the illness of several months with hardening of the arteries. He underwent an operation for the amputation of his right leg last June and had rallied from its effects, but his disease continued until it caused his death.

Mrs. Walters was a son-in-law of the late Solomon Juneau, the celebrated pioneer of Milwaukee country, his marriage to Ella Juneau being made in Milwaukee some fifty-four years ago. For several years they resided near Fond du Lac, later locating in the town of Beloit. Mrs. Walters passed away fifteen years ago.

Mr. Walters leaves eight children: L. C. Walters of the town of Beloit; Mrs. James H. Gandy, of the town of Menasha, Ill.; Mrs. Samia Royce and Mrs. Hattie Lee of Milwaukee; Miss Nellie Page of the town of Avon; Miss Grace Smith and George Walters of Ellerton, Ill., and Frank Walters of Foothills, Ill. He is also survived by twenty-nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at two o'clock Sunday afternoon from the home of his son, L. C. Walters, and interment will be made in the Beloit city cemetery. The G. A. R., of which he was a member, will attend the services.

AWAITS TRIAL IN BELOIT.
ON GRAND LARCENY CHARGE

Charged with grand larceny, Carl Pressa is being held at the Rock county jail here, on the charge of grand larceny, until his examination Monday before Judge John Clark in the Beloit criminal court. The prisoner is unable to furnish the five hundred dollars bail set by the court, and he was committed to jail yesterday afternoon following his arraignment.

It is alleged the man held at the jail here, stole about one hundred dollars worth of personal effects of C. P. Talbot, a boarder at the home of C. H. Hill, Church street, Beloit. District Attorney S. G. Duawiddle will file information against Pressa Monday when an examination will be held giving the man a chance to make a plea to the charge.

C. J. HAYES IS GIVEN
FIVE DOLLAR FINE FOR RIDING ON SIDEWALK

The maximum fine under the city ordinance was imposed upon C. J. Hayes, contractor, for his second violation of riding a bicycle on a sidewalk. The fine and costs amounted to $7.41 which was paid by Hayes in the municipal court following his arrest and being arraigned before Judge H. L. Madsen.

Effect of War Taxes.

It is probable that every taxpayer in Wisconsin has read President Wilson's message calling for $100,000,000 war tax. That will be a dollar a head for every man, woman and child in the United States. And do not be too sure that will be the end of war taxes.

On top of our present tax burdens this means an increase of nearly 25 per cent in this state. There is only one way to make sure of returning the taxpayers must elect men to the legislature who do not believe that the state should be wet nurse to every kind and class of feeble infant. A legislature that will repeat some of last session's laws will offer the only way to save our state expenses from being larger in 1915 than they are this year.

One of the useful pieces of public spirited work recently undertaken by the Yale University Press is the publication, for the American Historical Society of the annual bibliography of

MACHINES WEAR OUT EVEN IN POLITICS

THE RECENT PRIMARY ELECTION
PROVES TRUTH OF THIS STATEMENT.

WAR TEACHES LESSON

Nations, Like Individuals, Lose Normal Sense Under Stimulus of Too Much Prosperity.

By Eliel B. Lisher.

Milwaukee, Sept. 12.—At this writing the detailed results of the recent primary election are not at hand for any analysis, and they will be duly interesting later, for reminiscent remark. The larger facts are plain and indisputable. Above everything, the results demonstrate the utter futility of carefully prepared machinery to protect political bosses, when the people are in earnest. I confess myself dumfounded by the utter inability of the great organizations to do anything more than save its own masters the very "skin of its teeth," for it is the most far-reaching and comprehensive organization for the promotion of office holding and the manipulation of state affairs to that end that has ever existed in Wisconsin.

Even the Democrats felt, as they deserved, the cuffs of an outraged and overtaxed public, and through the efficient efforts of Joe "I" to screen themselves in, President Wilson, they succeeded in securing a very humiliating appearance of defeat, and the administration, which will get further emphasis when Mr. Huston goes into the discord in November. If Kearney had been nominated he would be the next senator.

One of the striking things in the result is the apparent thoroughness with which the voters, Republican, Democratic, and mixed, sought out the Progressive candidates for slaughter. The Progressives have learned some things, however, in their experience of studying the primary and the second choice "principles" have been very much expanded by the results. Like the boy who the while kicked, they don't look so pretty, but their field for increased knowledge has greatly broadened. It is one of the funny things, the humor of which they seem conscious, that they whine because the others are minority candidates. That never occurred to them when McGovern was unsuccessful, or even when Wilson carried Wisconsin. The opportunity to look in from the outside will be of illuminating value to our little statesmen who have thought they were indispensable, and it will be great saving to the people.

Sanity Epidemic General.

It will soon dawn upon the recent mind of Wisconsin that the recent election is not a state affair. This returning sense of sanity is quite epidemic. It is the slow, manifested in the sobering influence of an awful war in Europe; through the demoralization of business and in the early protests against the wild administrative excesses in Wisconsin. The whole country is sobering. The great fuss about "universal peace" may yet end in universal war. The people who have been drooling about brotherhood have been awakened by the nasty crackle of machine guns. The babes that have been rearin' on turtle doves and milk and honey now soon have a diet of raw meat and the company of hawks' wings. The "sub-squad" will drop into quietude or it will have its head cracked, and the incompetent and the idle will be run over by a gun carriage, if they do not stand aside. The whole world has been brought up standing and face to face with the potential fact that nations, like individuals, lose their moral sense under the stimulus of too much prosperity, and ease, and idleness, and pleasure. My father used to tell me that universal bankruptcy was the greatest and most certain protector of morals. There is some danger that he may be proved a prophet. The time is at hand when much of the mauldin talk about co-operation will be ruthlessly pushed aside by the necessity for self-preservation. Stern reality arouses all the instincts of self-protection and instinct links closely to the animal kingdom. The one saving grace of the situation is to be that personal self-sacrifice will mean the development of individual force and action, and if we have any of our boasted civilization left it will bring forward men of real caliber and purpose and re-establish the only sound, fundamental basis of democracy and morals—individual responsibility—the people will not listen to babbleries, and they will not return. Real Americans with brains are already serious minded and they are not scarce as recent years might suggest. I am not an alarmist. The utmost confidence is to be placed in the ultimate wisdom of the American people. They were never in better financial strength for a strain, and the final and determining factor will be their common sense and their ability to rise equal to real emergency.

Electric Roads Booming.

The rapid increase of street and electric railways in the United States is illustrated by a recent census bulletin which shows that in 1902 there were 987 companies in the country, operating 22,576.99 miles of track, the cost of the construction and equipment of which was $2,168,000,000. These facilities transported 4,774,211,904 fare paying passengers. In 1912 the mileage had almost doubled, reaching 41,064.82 miles, a cost of $4,979,000,000, and carrying 9,546,000,000 fare paying passengers. Over two and one-half billions of dollars went into this business in ten years. An opportunity to measure the magnitude of this growth is offered by a comparison with the steam roads of the country. In 1902 the steam roads represented a capital of $1,234,000,000 and in 1912 it had reached $19,635,000,000, or an increase of about 39 per cent, while the capitalization of street and electric railways increased over 100 per cent. The capital of the country has been shunning steam railways and going into electric railways and municipal utilities, because the latter offered larger interest and have been freer from the legislative interference that has frightened many investors away from steam railroad securities and forced the roads to pay high interest rates for loans.

Effect of War Taxes.

It is probable that every taxpayer in Wisconsin has read President Wilson's message calling for $100,000,000 war tax. That will be a dollar a head for every man, woman and child in the United States. And do not be too sure that will be the end of war taxes.

On top of our present tax burdens this means an increase of nearly 25 per cent in this state. There is only one way to make sure of returning the taxpayers must elect men to the legislature who do not believe that the state should be wet nurse to every kind and class of feeble infant.

A legislature that will repeat some of last session's laws will offer the only way to save our state expenses from being larger in 1915 than they are this year.

One of the useful pieces of public spirited work recently undertaken by the Yale University Press is the publication, for the American Historical Society of the annual bibliography of writings upon American history, compiled, as heretofore, by Miss Griffin. This is a catalogue of much usefulness to students of history but not to promise unduly for profits to the publisher, though it is to be hoped that it may prove a losing venture. The Yale Press is making itself a place as one of the liberal promoters of education by its willingness to assist in such good works.

Some Eric History.

Advertisement.

In the Panama bill congress provided that on and after July 1, 1880, the common ownership of water and railroads should be prohibited. The Erie, Lake and Lake Line, one of the oldest lines of this joint character in the country, comes under this inhibition, unless the interstate commerce commission determines that this joint control does not restrict competition between rail and water routes. In making up his case for the road, not long since, Superintendent Macay compiled the history of the line, which dates from the completion of the Erie Railroad to 1851, and is published in the Erie Railroad Magazine for August. Steamers were chartered for a few years, but in 1854 the road built its first propeller, the "Jersey City" in Cleveland. The Union Steamboat company was organized in 1869, and this organization continued to represent the Erie's lake interests until about three years ago, when the Erie Railroad Lake Line was organized. It now owns and operates eight vessels between Chicago and Buffalo, its only regular port of call enroute being Milwaukee, with a few stops on certain vessels at Madison and at Fairport, Ohio. The Erie Lake Line is the only one of the oldest but it has the largest package freight fleet plying between Wisconsin ports and the east.

Sporting Comments.

Oshkosh, though headed several times, has clinched the third straight pennant in the W. I. league. As was predicted in this letter some time ago the winning team had only to play steady ball to win the pennant or less, dash and erratic opponents. Milwaukee is battling desperately to regain her lead in the American association. So long as rain and defeat hold Louisville back, the Milwaukee club seems to be marking time also. When the local club should be winning regularly, however, it is losing off and on. Louisville is the pennant winner this year unless the home series with St. Paul, switched from Milwaukee here at the last minute, prove a clear victory to the Brewers.

The National and Philadelphia American teams will play for the pennant in the world's championship series this fall. The Athletics have already cinched their lead. The Braves have a rough road to travel, but they are rapidly getting over it.

J. M. Kehler of Kenosha is not a golfer known to national fame. Yet in a match recently he defeated R. P. Cavanaugh of the same club, one up, in a remarkable few holes. His score was 52. This is 20 strokes under par figures for the eighteen holes. It is remarkable. A few years ago the golfer who played near bogie was often a winner of championships. Today, in a local club championship, a player shoots 20 strokes under par in order to win his way to the semi-finals. A four was the largest score recorded from tee to cup during this stellar performance, while no less than six 2's out down the score to nothing. It was more than perfect golf. It was "super-perfect."

BOND ORDINANCE IS PASSED BY COUNCIL

Board of Education Presents Report
For Douglas School Addition—Contracts Awarded.

An ordinance for the issuing of negotiable city bonds to the amount of nine thousand dollars to provide funds for the construction and completion for an addition to the Douglas school building was passed by the council at their weekly meeting yesterday afternoon.

The report on the plans, specifications and recommendations of awarding the contracts for the construction of the addition was presented by the Board of Education.

The council acted upon the committee's report and awarded the contracts to the companies to meet the approval of the commission.

The contracts will be provided by the companies to meet the approval of the commission.

The mid-week hour of prayer and fellowship is held on Thursday evening at 7:30. The sermon by the pastor, upon the theme: "The Effect of Violence."

The evening hour of praise and worship is at 7:30. After a few minutes song service, the sermon by the pastor, upon the theme: "Why Christians Should Always Hope for the Best."

The mid-week hour of prayer and fellowship is held on Thursday evening at 7:30. You are welcome.

To the stranger within our city and to you who have no church home, we extend an invitation to come and share with us the privileges of our house of worship.

Edwin Parissie, pastor.

Sabbath school at the hour of 9:45.

I. F. Wontordyke, superintendent.

Junior League:—8:00 p. m.

Epsilon Pi Chapter:—6:30 p. m.

Christian Endeavor:—6:30 p. m.

Prayer meeting Thursday evening.

Choir practice Friday evening.

The public is most cordially invited to the services of this church.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

First Christian Science Church.

The First Christian Science Church is located at the corner of North Wall and Jackson streets.

The Rev. George Edwin Parissie, pastor.

Sunday school:—10:30 a. m.

Wednesday evening service:—7:45 p. m.

Subject: "Lesson sermon Sunday: 'Substance,'" Reading room, rear of church, open daily except Sundays and holidays, from 2 to 4 p. m.

Prayer meeting Thursday evening.

All invited to all services.

First Presbyterian Church.

The First Presbyterian Church is located at the corner of North Wall and Jackson streets.

The Rev. George Edwin Parissie, pastor.

Sunday school:—9:45 a. m.

Chief service:—11:00 a. m.

All are cordially invited.

St. Mary's Church.

St. Mary's Roman Catholic church.

Mass: 8:30 a. m.; second mass, 10:30 a. m.; vespers, 7:30 p. m.

Rev. Wm. Goede, pastor.

St. Patrick's Church.

St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church.

Corner Cherry and Holmes streets.

Rev. Dan E. Reilly, pastor.

Mass: 8:00 a. m.; second mass, 10:30 a. m.

First mass, 7:30 a. m.; last mass, 10:30 a. m.; vespers, 7:30 p. m.

First Baptist Church.

First Baptist church—Corner of Joseph and Pleasant streets.

Rev. Joseph Chalmers Hazen, pastor.

Sunday morning worship:—10:30 a. m.

Sermon subject: "Power in Weakness."

"God Be Merciful!" Kotzschmar

"Sun My Son!" Chandler

come and invitation to everyone to worship with us.

PETEY ABROAD—IT'S EASY TO SEE THAT PETEY'S FORTE IS GIVING ORDERS, NOT TAKING THEM.

SPORTS

TY MUST "HITERUP" TO WIN BAT HONORS

GIANTS AND BRAVES WIN; CUBS ARE IDLE

Cobb, White Four Points From Top, Has Three to Pass for Another Batting Championship.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Ty Cobb is within four points of a tie for the batting leadership of the American League, but three third-batters are ahead of him and it will take a trick by the Detroit star again to win for him the championship. Averages published here today show the three hundred hits of the league to be: Hobbs, Boston, .356; Collins, Philadelphia, .352; Jackson, Cleveland, .352; Cobb, .351; Gree, New York, .332; Speaker, Boston, .332; Crawford, Detroit, .329; Baker, Philadelphia, .323; Mitchell, Washington, .319; McInnis, Philadelphia, .309; C. Walker, St. Louis, .308; Purnell, Chicago, .304; Philadelphia with .293 and Detroit with .292 lead in club batting. The best home run batter is Baker with nine, while Meissel, New York, has most stolen bases, 56.

Tex Erwin, Brooklyn, leads in the National with .348. Dalton, Bly, .333; Becker, Philadelphia, .324; Daubert, Brooklyn, .322; Magee, Philadelphia, .317; Grant, New York, .313; Connolly, Boston, .313; Wheat, Brooklyn, .312; Miller, St. Louis, .308; Stengel, Brooklyn, .306; Pfeifer, Chicago, .304; G. Burns, New York, .298; Purnell, Chicago, .297; Philadelphia with .293 and Detroit with .292 lead in club batting. The best home run batter is Baker with nine, while Meissel, New York, has most stolen bases, 56.

Leading pitchers of the American League are Bender, Philadelphia, with 22 and 2; Leonard, Boston, 19 and 5; and Plank, Philadelphia, 15 ind 6. In the National League, James, with 22 wins and 8 games lost, is the top-notch; and Rudolph, Boston, 20 and 9; and Donk, St. Louis, 19 and 10.

Managed with 100 runs of Columbus, leads all batters if the American Association with 265. Then come Ticus, Kansas City, with 254; Kirke, Cleveland, .240; Killdeer, Minneapolis, .244; Altizer, Minneapolis, .243; Livington, Indianapolis, .234; Lake, Minneapolis, .233; Rath, Kansas City, .234; Phillips, Indiana, .226; Severeid, Louisville, .225; Miller, Columbus, .225; Minneapolis, with .220, and Kansas City, with .214, lead the clubs. Ruth, the Milwaukee outfielder, bought by the Chicago Americans, leads in home runs with 13 and Compton, Kansas City, has most stolen bases, 45. Best pitching records are held by Laroy, Indianapolis, with 12 won and 4 lost; Northrup, Louisville, 21 and 9, and Galia, Kansas City, 22 and 10.

Bennie Kauf, Indianapolis, leads in the Federal in hitting with .373 and in stolen bases with .57. Then come Evans, Brooklyn, .368; Easterly, K. C., .341; Lennox, Pittsburgh, .340; Chase, Buffalo, .333; Shaw, Brooklyn, .322; Oakes, Pittsburgh, .317; Crandall, St. Louis, .317; in club batting, Indianapolis, with 285, and Baltimore, next with 269. Kenorhy has 16 home runs. Leading pitchers are Ford, Buffalo, 18 and 5; Hendrix, Chicago, 23 and 9; Seaton, Brooklyn, 22 and 11.

Pete Kinsley's .352 is still the best done in the Southern League. After him are Kirby, Mobile, .328; McCormick, Chattanooga, .318; Daily, Montgomery, .316; Jacobson, Chattanooga, .308; Allison, Memphis, .317; Goulet, Memphis, .308; Wilcheson, Atlanta, .308; Adams, New Orleans, .295; and Lor, Mobile, .304. The Chattanoogans with 264 and Mobile with 257 lead in team hitting. Daily, with 14 home runs, leads in his specialty and Calahan, Nashville, sets the pace for the base stealers with 52. Best pitching is credited to Brown, Birmingham, 21 and 8; Johnson, Birmingham, 18 and 7; Bagby, New Orleans, 17 and 8.

Larry Lejeune, Sioux City, leads the Western League with .371. Then come Kuno, Sioux City, .345; Butcher, Denver, .336; Koerber, Topeka, .336; Congdon, Omaha, .327; Eddington, Denver, .320; Patterson, St. Louis, .319; Coffey, Denver, .328; Baird, Sioux City, .316; Williams, St. Joseph, .323; 100 team hitting. Denver with 295 and Sioux City with 293 lead. Nicholson, Wichita, with .58, has most stolen bases and W. Jones, Des Moines, most home runs, 19. Leading pitchers are Gasper, Sioux City, 21 and 5; Gaskell, Denver, 24 and 8; Sterzer, St. Joseph, 25 and 10.

In the International League, Kritchell, Toronto, leads with .343; Williams, Roch, .338; McIntyre, Providence, .333; Schultz, Roch, .324; Jamieon, Buffalo, .322; Platte, Providence, .321; Onslow, Providence, .319; Walsh, Wm. J., .318; Flynn, Montana, .311; Williamson, Montana, .311; Gilhooley, Boston, leads case stealers with 14. Jones, Leading pitchers are Mays, Providence, 20 and 7; Hughes, Roch, 19 and 7; and Buffalo, 13 and 5.

STAR CHICAGO ATHLETE WILL ENTER WISCONSIN

Special to the Gazette.—Madison, Wis., Sept. 12.—William Carter, the star Chicago prep school athlete, has announced his intention of entering the University of Wisconsin in the fall. Carter, who was a member of the University high school team which captured the Michigan Inter-scholastic meet and later won Stagg's meet, is one of the fastest sprinters in the country. He ran the hundred in 10.45 at Ann Arbor, but the mark was not allowed on account of a light wind which was blowing down the track.

Sell your house or any other piece of real estate you may have through the want ad column—the cost is but a trifle.

HIGH SCHOOL SQUAD IN FIRST WORKOUT

Twenty-five Candidates at Practice Yesterday.—Two Hour Drill Was Held This Afternoon.

The Janesville high school football season of 1914 has commenced. Curtis and a squad of twenty-five candidates, all promising material reported for the first workout of the season yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of school, at which time mid-season tactics were the program. Racing up and down the field at the rear of the Grand school, the men resorted to catching and running back prints, besides some preliminary work of falling on the ball and passing it.

The fact that so many aspirants turned out yesterday is encouraging to Curtis, who expected only a few, because of its being the end of the week. Determined to make a real team this year out of what material he has which, by the way, he believes better than 1913, a two hour drill was held this afternoon at the Grand school grounds, with a large delegation of linemen and backfield men present in uniform. Captain Leslie Stewart is tackling the punting job, and finds it rather difficult at present to send the oval any great distance.

Philip Taylor is one member of the outfit who can lift the pugnacious over what is called the fence. Any who can accomplish this feat is regarded as being a logical candidate for the kicking job, as the distance to the fence is nearly fifty yards. The Giants, with Matty hurling, had little trouble in downing the Dodgers, 3 to 0. It is the first time in weeks, but the McGrawites have showed real championship form. Matty allowed seven hits, walked none and struck out one Dodger. He was hit in all corners, class fielding showing skill, and from a distance of a dozen feet. On the other hand, Schmidt gave the Giants eleven bingles, and was somewhat wild.

The Chicago Cubs, third in the race, were idle yesterday, due to cold weather at Pittsford, and consequently fell back half a game. The bill today calls for a double-header Philadelphia between the Giants and Quakers, a double bill at Pittsford, between the Pirates and Cubs, and one game at Boston between the Braves and Dodgers. This arrangement of affairs looks encouraging for the Phillies are the Giants' hoodoo, especially at the Quaker town, while Boston will have things comparatively easy at their own grounds with the Brooklynites. There is no telling what the Cubs will do; they are so changeable.

STANDING OF THE TEAMS.

American Association.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Louisville	.86	.66	.560
Milwaukee	.81	.68	.550
Indianapolis	.72	.68	.520
Columbus	.77	.71	.517
Cleveland	.77	.72	.517

American League.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Philadelphia	.86	.45	.657
Boston	.77	.52	.597
Washington	.67	.61	.523
Detroit	.68	.63	.519
Chicago	.63	.67	.485
New York	.59	.73	.447
St. Louis	.58	.71	.450
Cleveland	.42	.88	.322

National League.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Boston	.73	.54	.575
New York	.70	.56	.556
Chicago	.69	.62	.530
St. Louis	.68	.62	.528
Baltimore	.65	.60	.520
Brooklyn	.64	.59	.520
Cincinnati	.66	.71	.442

Federal League.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Indianapolis	.72	.57	.558
Chicago	.69	.58	.543
Baltimore	.65	.60	.528
Buffalo	.64	.59	.520
Kansas City	.60	.67	.473
Pittsburgh	.51	.71	.411

Wisconsin-Illinois League.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Boston	.73	.54	.575
New York	.70	.56	.556
Chicago	.69	.62	.530
St. Louis	.68	.62	.528
Baltimore	.65	.60	.520
Brooklyn	.64	.59	.520
Cincinnati	.66	.71	.442

Wisconsin-Illinois League.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Oshkosh	.75	.42	.641
Green Bay	.70	.51	.579
Appleton	.62	.54	.534
Racine	.63	.58	.521
Twin Cities	.60	.57	.513
Madison	.57	.61	.483
Rockford	.48	.70	.407
Wausau	.39	.79	.331

RESULTS YESTERDAY.

American Association.

Milwaukee 7-1, Minneapolis 5-5. St. Paul 1-6, Kansas City 0-5. Indianapolis 14, Louisville 10. No other games scheduled.

American League.

Boston 8, Philadelphia 8 (called in eighth; darkness). Washington 4, New York 2. No other games scheduled.

National League.

Boston 6, Philadelphia 5. New York 3, Brooklyn 0. No other games scheduled. No other games scheduled.

Federal League.

St. Louis 6, Brooklyn 5. Buffalo 12, Chicago 0. All other games postponed, rain.

Wisconsin-Illinois League.

Green Bay 1, Wausau 0. Madison 8, Rockford 7. Oshkosh 8, Racine 5. Appleton-Twin Cities, no game, rain.

GAMES SCHEDULED FOR TODAY.

American League.

Boston at Washington. Philadelphia at New York. Cleveland at St. Louis. Detroit at Chicago.

National League.

Brooklyn at Boston.

New York at Philadelphia. St. Louis at Pittsburgh.

Federal League.

Kansas City at Pittsburgh. Indianapolis at Baltimore. St. Louis at Brooklyn. Chicago at Buffalo.

American Association.

St. Paul at Milwaukee. Kansas City at Minneapolis. Indianapolis at Columbus. Indianapolis at Cleveland. Appleton at Twin Cities. Wausau at Green Bay. Rockford at Madison. Oshkosh at Racine.

Wisconsin-Illinois League.

Wausau at Green Bay. Rockford at Madison. Oshkosh at Racine.

BIG AIR AND TRACK EVENTS ON SUNDAY

Exhibitions by Beachey and Oldfield at Beloit Fair Grounds Tomorrow Will Be Features.

The Janesville Gazette

New Bldg. 200-201 E. Milwaukee St.

ENTERED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT JANESEVILLE AS SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER.

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENING.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

"The first result of mobilization and war was a rush to the churches. Marriage and death were indissolubly combined and every betrothed soldier set about to wed. A decree proclaimed that for Nottrauungen (immediate marriages of soldiers) banns and other formalities were dispensed with.

Between Saturday morning, August 1, and Tuesday at twelve, there were 4,000 such weddings. Half were solemnized on Sunday. I saw some of this. I was driving past the red brick church in Wihelmusau where my own child was christened.

Outside the church were the bridesmaids of soldiers) banns and other formalities were dispensed with.

Twenty-odd couples in a queue, as if waiting for a theatre, not for marriage and death. Some soldier bridegrooms were in uniform; the reservists were in mafu. The reservists carried the inevitable cardboard box. I saw two girls in the queue keeping places for bridegrooms who had not yet come, and I saw men keeping places for their brides. The parties were of all classes—rich girls in wedding dress who came in motor cars, servant girls with red arms straight from their work.

"With malice toward none and charity for all," should be our motto.

LARGE FARM HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Seventeen Room Structure Burns on Thursday—Loss Estimated at $3,000.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE

Whitehaven, Sept. 12.—The large seventeen room house on the Engerström farm east of Eagle, burned to the ground Tuesday morning. Fenlon Engerström was about 15 miles away cutting corn when he saw the house in flames. The housekeeper was in the garden and was not able to save any of her effects. When Mr. Engerström reached the burning building he determined to save his gun and some papers. After getting them he threw a suit of clothes out the window, then jumped through a second story window to the ground, risking himself badly about the face. When news was phoned to Edward Engerström he and his sons Leslie and Willis started at once by automobile, reaching there within half an hour from the time the fire was discovered, to find only a few timbers standing. It is not known how the fire started. The $3,000 loss is partially covered by insurance.

Mrs. Bess Lou Farley will be the kindergarten teacher in the Oshkosh Normal school this fall. She has been teaching during the summer at Arden Shore camp, Lake Blug, Ill., and came Thursday to visit Mrs. C. W. Steele for a few days.

The Soldiers and Sailors' Association of Southern Wisconsin held an interesting reunion in Palmyra on Thursday. The rain prevented the picnic lunch at the grove, so the meeting place was changed to the old sanitarium, now owned by the druggists. The speakers of the day were Department Commander S. A. Cook of Neenah and H. W. Root of Madison, who is patriotic instructor of the G. A. R. in Wisconsin. Reminiscences were given by W. H. De Long of South Dakota, veteran of the Thirtyninth Illinois regiment, who is here visiting his son, Frank Foote of Lake Mills, formerly of Whitewater, who was also urged to speak.

It is difficult to conceive of an army a million strong advancing through a land which was peaceful and prosperous three months ago, and gradually closing in on one of the great cities of the old world. And when the fact is considered that every step of the way is contested by a great force equally determined, the loss of life and destruction of property can only be appalling.

The aftermath of this most horrible of all wars, is yet to be written. It will be a history of nations in mourning, for the brave men who went to the front, not only from the altar, but from tens of thousands of peaceful and happy homes—history of widowhood and orphanage without a parallel.

Whatever causes may be held responsible for the war, they will contain but little comfort for the army of mourners, which will far outnumber the armies in the field.

The sacrifice of life, for love of country or for a great principle, marks men as heroes, and monuments are dedicated to their memory, but the homes invaded and desolated continue to mourn, because of personal loss.

The girl who dropped dead at the altar, from the shock of separation, was saved the long years of mourning which thousands of widows will experience, where tragedies will be more real.

War has always been the world's great civilizer, and the one ray of hope, which appears today on the horizon, is that in the new alignment of nations—which will follow as the final outcome—that human rights will be recognized as fundamental, and that oppression will forever cease.

The old world claims to be a civilized world, and many of the nations now involved in war are called Christian nations, but if half the reports of cruelty and barbarity are true, the history yet to be written will be a sad comment on both civilization and Christianity.

The world will never be civilized until human passions are controlled, and when it is Christianized, a common brotherhood will be established on a basis which will be universally recognized.

America occupies an enviable position today among the world's great nations because she is at peace with all mankind, and her people enjoy a sense of security because they are so largely sovereigns of their own destiny.

The nation is not troubled with ambition for territorial conquest, and the people are free from the spirit of revenge. It will be found that conquest and revenge are prime factors in the causes which brought on the war now in progress.

The reflex influence of the war is already being felt for good, in this country. The Mexican trouble is so largely overshadowed that it sinks in insignificance. Our labor troubles and threatened strikes, yield to common sense and patriotic suggestions, while political progressive reform has been halted, and the political agitator assigned to a seat in the rear.

That the nation is on the eve of renewed prosperity is evidenced by the new industries which are to furnish many lines of goods heretofore imported.

The American people age resourceful and within a twelve-month there will be a home market for American cotton, and many other things which have gone abroad as raw material, because we could not compete with the pauper labor of the old world.

More hopeful than anything else is the disposition of the people to cut loose from fade and get together on a basis of sanity. The war has caused us to stop and think, and the longer we stop and the more we think the more do we realize that progress is retarded when the hand of every man is against his brother, and that has been our attitude.

The war is teaching us many useful lessons and not the least important is a sense of appreciation for a birthright in this fair land so rich in blessing and opportunity.

The one thing for us to remember in discussing the war, is that we are spectators, and that charity for all mankind should influence expressions of judgment.

We represent as a nation, every country involved, and are called upon to deal with the sympathies of many nationalities. It is not a time for idle talk nor criticism, and the occasion is too serious for hasty judgment.

All the forces are contending for a principle, and the fighting is in deadly earnest. There is just as much involved and this will eventually prevail. In the meantime, heartfelt sympathy should be extended to the man who left his dead bride at the altar, and to the great multitude of homes in every stricken land that will be homes of mourning, for many years to come.

"With malice toward none and charity for all," should be our motto.

THE "TREY O' HEARTS" AGAIN MEETS SUCCESS

Third Installment of Famous Picture Story Seen by Packed House Last Evening.

Continued interest in "The Trey O' Hearts" was manifest by the large audience which packed the Myers theatre last evening. Last evening's picture was the third installment entitled "The Seaventure" and had to do with the escape of Alan Law and the girl he supposed to be Rose Trine, aboard a boat of that name. The burning of the little vessel, "The Seaventure," was extremely realistic showing as it did the destruction of several thousands of dollars worth of property. There is stirring action in every reel of film shown thus far and it bids fair to keep that way. It seems impossible to guess what's going to happen even so slightly in advance of the film.

"The Trey O' Hearts" appears in serial form in the Gazette each Saturday evening and one installment can be found on another page of this issue.

AMUSEMENTS

AT MYERS THEATER.

Conditions in the amusement field have vastly changed within the past few seasons. Even the most casual observer must have noticed it. Old things indeed have passed away and new plays and faces are in the public eye. It was just at the period when the "movies" were becoming a mighty factor in the world of drama that Sarah Padden came forth as a dramatic star. The late Henry B. Harris was responsible for her first im-

The Soldiers and Sailors' Association of Southern Wisconsin held an interesting reunion in Palmyra on Thursday. The rain prevented the picnic lunch at the grove, so the meeting place was changed to the old sanitarium, now owned by the druggists. The speakers of the day were Department Commander S. A. Cook of Neenah and H. W. Root of Madison, who is patriotic instructor of the G. A. R. in Wisconsin. Reminiscences were given by W. H. De Long of South Dakota, veteran of the Thirtyninth Illinois regiment, who is here visiting his son, Frank Foote of Lake Mills, formerly of Whitewater, who was also urged to speak.

The strength of the local G. A. R. may be shown by the fact that all the officers elected for the ensuing year live in Whitewater and are as follows:

President W. J. Holden; vice-president H. P. Goodman; secretary C. N. Griffith; treasurer F. C. Kizer. In addition to them the following members of the post No. 34 were present:

S. Anderson, V. H. Culon, C. C. Gibbs, Little Hadley, Frank Millard,

A. R. Thatcher and Captain W. Weid.

It was voted to hold the next annual reunion at Palmyra, but the date to be changed from September to some time in August.

In digging for the service pipe from the First street water main into the new bank building a skull and several bones were unearthed.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Wilkinson and Mrs. Sheldon spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Mary McMillan at Racine.

Miss Mary A. Pearson left Friday evening for Minneapolis to spend a couple of weeks with the S. S. Cook family.

The honors are coming fast to E. F. Dithmar of Baraboo. Mr. Upham received word this morning that an eight and one-half pound son arrived Friday evening. Mrs. Dithmar will be remembered as Miss Emily Upham of this city.

Donald Halverson returned Tuesday from St. Louis, where he represented the Beloit college chapter of Beta Theta Pi at the annual convention.

PAROLED PRISONERS OBTAINING LIQUOR

Investigation May Be Started to Punish Violators of Commitment Law.

"Where do the commitment law prisoners obtain liquor?" The answer to this violation of the commitment law may be thoroughly investigated by the police if continued offenses come before the municipal court and police department. In the last two weeks no less than six cases have been brought to the attention of the department that paroled men were intoxicated while under sentence.

Two men, John Stevens and Joseph McDowell, are being given the "detention" at the county jail for being intoxicated while serving time, and a third case. Thomas M. Herrian, who was released on an order from Judge H. L. Maxfield, have given evidence that local saloon keepers have not complied to the law in refusing to sell paroled men liquor. The penalty for this offense is a severe one and Chief Police Champion declared that if violations continued to increase prosecutions would follow.

The success of the commitment law depends largely on the conduct of the prisoners after their parole and the police express an opinion that the law has failed to have the desired effect when a prisoner can obtain intoxicants almost as freely as before his sentence.

The provisions of the commitment law are that a prisoner can be given additional time on his sentence for being intoxicated while serving his term and in case of refusal to work shall be given ten days in the county jail in solitary confinement on bread and water. The attitude taken by Municipal Judge H. L. Maxfield is that a prisoner under the influence of illegally obtained liquor cannot work and should be punished by the "detention" cure. This punishment has had the desired effect the authorities state and will be resorted to more in the future if violations continue.

The fact that all the police court prisoners are released soon after their commitment to the county jail makes the new law an honor act, placing the paroled man on his own responsibility to work out his term.

AUTOMOBILE DRAGS MAN RIDING WHEEL

Frank Albrecht Sustains Minor Injuries in Auto Accident on South Main Last Evening.

Frank A. Albrecht, who resides at 452 South Pearl street, was severely bruised when dragged fifteen or twenty feet by an automobile said to have been driven by William Kapke in an accident on South Main street a few minutes before six o'clock last evening. Both the automobile and Albrecht on his bicycle were coming up Main street and when Mr. Albrecht lost control of the car track as the intersection was coming, the automobile following close behind struck him and the wheel was caught in the "bumper" of the auto, dragging Albrecht some distance over the pavement. The wheel was smashed but fortunately Mr. Albrecht escaped with minor bruises which will confine him to his home for several days.

THE "TREY O' HEARTS" AGAIN MEETS SUCCESS

Third Installment of Famous Picture Story Seen by Packed House Last Evening.

Continued interest in "The Trey O' Hearts" was manifest by the large audience which packed the Myers theatre last evening. Last evening's picture was the third installment entitled "The Seaventure" and had to do with the escape of Alan Law and the girl he supposed to be Rose Trine, aboard a boat of that name. The burning of the little vessel, "The Seaventure," was extremely realistic showing as it did the destruction of several thousands of dollars worth of property. There is stirring action in every reel of film shown thus far and it bids fair to keep that way. It seems impossible to guess what's going to happen even so slightly in advance of the film.

"The Trey O' Hearts" appears in serial form in the Gazette each Saturday evening and one installment can be found on another page of this issue.

AMUSEMENTS

AT MYERS THEATER.

Conditions in the amusement field have vastly changed within the past few seasons. Even the most casual observer must have noticed it. Old things indeed have passed away and new plays and faces are in the public eye. It was just at the period when the "movies" were becoming a mighty factor in the world of drama that Sarah Padden came forth as a dramatic star. The late Henry B. Harris was responsible for her first im-

The Soldiers and Sailors' Association of Southern Wisconsin held an interesting reunion in Palmyra on Thursday. The rain prevented the picnic lunch at the grove, so the meeting place was changed to the old sanitarium, now owned by the druggists. The speakers of the day were Department Commander S. A. Cook of Neenah and H. W. Root of Madison, who is patriotic instructor of the G. A. R. in Wisconsin. Reminiscences were given by W. H. De Long of South Dakota, veteran of the Thirtyninth Illinois regiment, who is here visiting his son, Frank Foote of Lake Mills, formerly of Whitewater, who was also urged to speak.

The strength of the local G. A. R. may be shown by the fact that all the officers elected for the ensuing year live in Whitewater and are as follows:

President W. J. Holden; vice-president H. P. Goodman; secretary C. N. Griffith; treasurer F. C. Kizer. In addition to them the following members of the post No. 34 were present:

S. Anderson, V. H. Culon, C. C. Gibbs, Little Hadley, Frank Millard,

A. R. Thatcher and Captain W. Weid.

It was voted to hold the next annual reunion at Palmyra, but the date to be changed from September to some time in August.

In digging for the service pipe from the First street water main into the new bank building a skull and several bones were unearthed.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Wilkinson and Mrs. Sheldon spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Mary McMillan at Racine.

Miss Mary A. Pearson left Friday evening for Minneapolis to spend a couple of weeks with the S. S. Cook family.

The honors are coming fast to E. F. Dithmar of Baraboo. Mr. Upham received word this morning that an eight and one-half pound son arrived Friday evening. Mrs. Dithmar will be remembered as Miss Emily Upham of this city.

Donald Halverson returned Tuesday from St. Louis, where he represented the Beloit college chapter of Beta Theta Pi at the annual convention.

PAROLED PRISONERS OBTAINING LIQUOR

Investigation May Be Started to Punish Violators of Commitment Law.

"Where do the commitment law prisoners obtain liquor?" The answer to this violation of the commitment law may be thoroughly investigated by the police if continued offenses come before the municipal court and police department. In the last two weeks no less than six cases have been brought to the attention of the department that paroled men were intoxicated while under sentence.

Two men, John Stevens and Joseph McDowell, are being given the "detention" at the county jail for being intoxicated while serving time, and a third case. Thomas M. Herrian, who was released on an order from Judge H. L. Maxfield, have given evidence that local saloon keepers have not complied to the law in refusing to sell paroled men liquor. The penalty for this offense is a severe one and Chief Police Champion declared that if violations continued to increase prosecutions would follow.

The success of the commitment law depends largely on the conduct of the prisoners after their parole and the police express an opinion that the law has failed to have the desired effect when a prisoner can obtain intoxicants almost as freely as before his sentence.

The provisions of the commitment law are that a prisoner can be given additional time on his sentence for being intoxicated while serving his term and in case of refusal to work shall be given ten days in the county jail in solitary confinement on bread and water. The attitude taken by Municipal Judge H. L. Maxfield is that a prisoner under the influence of illegally obtained liquor cannot work and should be punished by the "detention" cure. This punishment has met the annual convention. The session probably will last until the early part of next week. Elaborate plans have been made for the entertainment of the visitors by local bodies.

AT THE APOLLO.

"Redemption of David Corson," the noted story of a man's desperate struggle with himself, provides William Farnum with a role superbly suited to his individuality. David Corson is a rugged man, with an abundance of magnetism and spiritual power. For a time he uses his psychic gifts to rescue and redeem his stumbling fellowmen until a woman comes into his life—and Satan comes along. From this time Corson develops his great power by using it as a means to seduce the woman. He descends into the dregs, loses his great faith, gambles and drinks, and narrowly escapes becoming a murderer. Then, after an agonizing period of anguish and remorse he emerges from the shadow of shame and sin, and achieves his regeneration. This feature will be presented Monday.

THE APOLLO.

"Redemption of David Corson."

"Redemption of David Corson," the noted story of a man's desperate struggle with himself, provides William Farnum with a role superbly suited to his individuality. David Corson is a rugged man, with an abundance of magnetism and spiritual power. For a time he uses his psychic gifts to rescue and redeem his stumbling fellowmen until a woman comes into his life—and Satan comes along. From this time Corson develops his great power by using it as a means to seduce the woman. He descends into the dregs, loses his great faith, gambles and drinks, and narrowly escapes becoming a murderer. Then, after an agonizing period of anguish and remorse he emerges from the shadow of shame and sin, and achieves his regeneration. This feature will be presented Monday.

AT THE APOLLO.

"Redemption of David Corson."

"Red

WHY DO YOU NEGLECT YOUR TEETH?

DR. F. T. RICHARDS

(Over Heberg's)

You know that decay will not only cause you to lose your teeth—but it will cause you intense suffering.

The only way to save them is to have them put in order by a competent dentist.

FREE

Your Teeth
millions of patients know my work.
I can stop that decay and Save Your Teeth—WITHOUT PAIN.

The First National Is Now located in its handsome new building at River and Milwaukee Streets. An informal reception will be held on Saturday, Sept. 12th, from 9 A. M. to 9:30 P. M. at which time the officers and employees will be pleased to exhibit their new home to the people of Janesville and Rock County.

The First National Bank

Established 1855.

F. R. LITTLEMAN, M.D.

Practice limited to Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.

Suite 322 and 323 Hayes Block.

Both Phones.

WALL PAPER SALE

We are now offering some very attractive prices on wall papers for the fall season. You'll be able to make a considerable saving here now.

CARL W. DIEHLS THE ART STORE

26 W. Milw. St.

PURE MILK

JANESEVILLE PURE MILK COMPANY

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

FERT. BEST Minnesota Flour at $1.60 per sack, delivered; both phones.

West Side Hitch Barn. 13-9-12-31.

NEW IDEA SPREADER, new and second hand wagon, buggies, at West

Side Hitch Barn. 20-9-12-31.

WE SELL OATS, feed, hay, straw and and feeds at West Side Hitch Barn.

13-9-12-31.

FOR RENT—Large furnished front room, with alcove bedroom, furnace and electric light, gas, bath. 117 S.

Academy St. 3-9-12-21.

LAST—Friday P. M., an open face diamond and silver ladies' watch between Bostwick's store and railroad crossing on Jackson St. Finder house at Gazette office. 25-9-12-31.

FOR RENT—7-room house, centrally heated. Second ward. H. A. Moeser

12 W. Milw. St. 11-9-12-31.

FOR SALE—Steel coal range, reasonable, $47 S. Jackson, old phone 1630.

13-9-12-31.

END FOR FREE BOOKLET Entitled "Action Sales and How To Prepare Them," containing a lot of useful information on getting up an afters and the arrangement of delivery. A post card will bring it. Address The Janesville Gazette.

54-9-12-31.

LOCAL BRIEF ITEMS.

Janesville Lodge No. 55, F. and A.

met in stated communication at Masonic Temple. Work in the F.

C. degree. Visiting brothers cordially invited.

There will be a social as well as business meeting of the local W. C.

U. at the home of Mrs. O. W. Athen,

312 Highland Avenue, Monday, Sept.

12 at 2 p. m. It is hoped the members will attend. Delegates for country and state conventions must be applied.

Held a Party: A pretty dancing party was held last evening at Turle

Lake, when about fifty couples attended. Music was furnished by Carter and Berg orchestra.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the Woodman Association for the prompt payment of the claim I entered August 16th, also recommend the Association to the people.

JOHN GERBER.

NEW BANK IS OPENED TO VISITORS TODAY

DIRECTORS OF FIRST NATIONAL HOLD INFORMAL RECEPTION FOR CUSTOMERS AND FRIENDS.

A MODERN STRUCTURE

Fire and Burglar-proof Construction—Mahogany, Marble and Bronze Furnishings—Bank Was Founded in 1855.

Hundreds of visitors this morning and this afternoon inspected the new First National bank building. Today and this evening an informal reception for the banking house's customers and friends is being held by the directors and officers of the institution. It will continue until 8:30 p. m.

The entirely new building equipped for the exclusive banking use is a credit to Janesville and the state of Wisconsin. The most modern comforts and conveniences for customers and employees are provided.

The exterior of the structure is of blackstone red brick and Bedford cut stone with base of coarse pink granite. The architecture is of the modified Colonial type. The building is the latest type of fireproof construc-

PERSONAL MENTION.

Prof. Geo. L. Hatch dancing classes open at Terpsichorean hall, Monday, September 14 at 7:30 P. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatch will show the new dances, viz.: Parisian Tango, Maxixe, Half and Half, One Step, Hesitation Waltz, etc. Class at 7:30. Social hop 9 to 12.

W. H. McBain, chief engineer at the State School for the Blind, left for Milwaukee this morning to attend the state convention for stationery engineers.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Mizra and Mr. Wayward of Indiana are visiting at the home of Charles Davis.

Mrs. Morton Murphy has returned home from Rushville, Ind., where she was called by the death of her father.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Simpson of Dundee, Ill., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Whyte, 225 South Main Street.

Miss Marion Merrill is spending the weekend at the home of Miss Frances Child of La Prairie.

Mrs. Merrill and daughter Luellie spent Sunday at the home of Carl Child in La Prairie.

Elmer Haylock of Edgerton is at Mercy hospital suffering from a broken arm. He is doing nicely.

S. Woodworth was a business caller at Edgerton on Thursday.

Miss Sophia Chort of Clinton was a visitor in this city a few days ago.

Miss Josephine Peterson has gone to Leyden where she has taken a school for the winter.

J. W. Callens, a visitor from Evansville, was a visitor the last of this week on business.

H. H. Whipple of Waterloo, Iowa,

REAFFIRM OLD ORDER IN WATER RATE CASE

COPIES OF RAILROAD COMMISSION'S DECISION RECEIVED IN THIS CITY TODAY.

REVIEWS WHOLE CASE

Municipal Ownership Tangle As Well As Rate Ruling Considered In Document Completed on Friday.

Copies of the decision of the state railroad commission announced at the hearing held at Madison, September 8th, were received by city officials today. The order reaffirms the ruling made in August, 1911, by the commission, but which had been prevented from being effective by the Water company failing to heed the order.

The history of the water works controversy, involving city and company, covering both the rate question and municipal ownership, is given in the report. At the Madison hearing Sept. 8th the commission rendered their decision for the enforcement of the reduced rates while the Water company maintained its intention of taking the matter to the circuit court to prevent the rates becoming effective until the outcome of the valuation proceedings now before the commission is determined.

A restraining order will be petitioned by the Water company's attorney and the city officials are of the opinion that the rate enforcement case will be involved in prolonged court action preventing a speedy settlement of the valuation and ownership controversy.

The decision of the railroad commission to make the reduced consumers' rate effective to either party, the private corporation or the city, in case the plant is taken over by the city, is set forth in the report.

Text of Decision.

The text of the commission's decision follows in full:

"An order was made on the 17th day of August, 1911, determining and establishing a schedule of rates, rules and regulations to be observed and followed by the Janesville Water company, which order was to become effective on the 1st day of October, 1911. On the 28th day of September, 1911, application for rehearing was made. Upon the receipt of the application and at the direction of a member of the Commission, a notice was given to the parties that the rehearing would be held at the office of the Commission in the capitol, in the city of Madison, on the 3rd day of October, 1911, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day, and such notice contained a provision that the effectiveness of the order would be suspended until the day upon which rehearing was set for the rehearing there was no appearance on the part of either party and the matter remained in status quo.

"On the 2nd day of November, 1911, the Janesville Water company brought action against the Commission to set aside the order made on August 17, 1911. On the 1st day of July, 1914, by consent of the parties, an order was entered extending the time within which said order of August 17, 1911, should become effective until the further order of the Commission. The matter of rehearing was issued on the 28th day of August, 1914, at the capitol in the city of Madison, on the 8th day of September, 1914. The petition was represented by W. H. Dougherty, city attorney, and the respondent by Jeffris, Mouat, Oestreich & Avery.

The situation in this case has been somewhat complicated by numerous delays and order. In justice to all parties concerned, some explanation is necessary.

Both Parties Dissatisfied.

"When the original order was made establishing the schedule of rates for the water company, both the city and the company were dissatisfied with the order. The order reduced the rates to private consumers and increased the rates to the city for public consumption of water. The city officials contend at the time that the financial condition of the city was not such as to enable it to conveniently meet the increased expense for city water provided in the order. The company, on the other hand, upon the re-hearing issued by the secretary of the Commission, contained a provision that the original order would be suspended until the decision upon the rehearing, after which such application was made and filed the water company in the matter, but the no-tampering with the order.

Doctor and Mrs. Dwight and Little died at Rockton, Ill., motored to this city on Friday and spent the day with friends.

Harold Myers came down from Madison and spent the day on Friday in this city on business.

Mrs. Walter Darling and two children are in the city from Milwaukee. They are the guests of Mrs. C. S. Jackman of East street.

Mrs. Harry Smith of Indianapolis, Indiana, has returned home after a three months visit with relatives in Princeton, Duluth, and Minneapolis, Minnesota.

W. D. Burdick of Sarnia, Ill., who was a guest of Dr. and Mrs. L. Burdick has gone to Milton where he will take up his senior year work at Milton College.

Doctor and Mrs. Dwight and Little died at Rockton, Ill., motored to this city on Friday and spent the day with friends.

Harry Hieder of Rockford, left this morning for his home after spending the week end with Janesville relatives.

Mrs. James Bennett of Beloit is spending the day in this city.

Miss Alva Dobson has returned home after spending a week with her cousin, Miss Elmyra Elmer of Monroe.

H. J. Tomlin and wife of Delavan, spent the day Friday in this city. Luther Underwood of Chicago is a business visitor in Janesville today.

Mrs. F. W. Zimmerman, who spent the past week with her brothers in Monroe, has returned to her home in the city.

Carl Dudley left Wednesday for Green Bay, where he will make his home.

Frank Kunder of Monroe, spent the day Friday in this city.

Miss Rosalind Studley, who has been the guest of Mrs. E. J. Manning, left Thursday for her home in Chicago. Miss Florence Thorpe of Monroe, who was also Mrs. Manning's guest, accompanied her home and will remain for a weeks visit.

Mrs. Kate Custer-Wallace of Lake Wequenosing, Mich., will arrive in Janesville today for a weeks visit with local relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Mitchell of Chicago, who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Cronin, have returned to their home in the city.

Just to the left of the entrance are the great vaults and deposit vaults are constructed of massive steel vaults embedded in thick concrete walls. The fireproof steel lines the interior of each section. Two vault doors, ten inches in thickness each, and containing within two inches of "non-burnable steel" are proof against all known methods of forcible entry.

The vault doors are controlled by automatic locks and "triple timers." There are also fireproof book vaults and a large storage vault in the basement. The safety deposit vault contains approximately 500 boxes. An attendant will be in charge.

The bank directors, with the view of giving entire privacy to their customers, built the safe deposit department, five private rooms for use of renters of the boxes.

Just to the left of the entrance is a small hallway which gives access to a ladies' rest room on the lobby floor and leads the staircase to the men's writing room on the second floor overlooking Milwaukee street. The board of directors' room is also on the second floor. Lavatories and toilets are provided in each room. South of the hallway on the left at the entrance is the ladies' writing room. The president's room is to the right upon entering.

John Disch of Madison is in Janesville today.

George Porter of Evansville, is spending the day in this city.

Mrs. Orion Judd of Bardwell, spent the day Friday in Janesville.

Warren Hopkins, Jr., is a business visitor in Evansville today.

Thomas Hantley and wife of Solon Mills, are in Janesville today.

Sixty people this morning left Janesville to attend the closing day activities at the Green county fair at Monroe.

Mrs. Thomas Gregg, 729 Prospect avenue, entertained Circle No. 3 of the M. E. church Friday afternoon. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Gregg was presented with a sterling silver jewel spoon by the ladies. She has been their president for the past three years.

Victor Hemming left this morning to spend several days in Milwaukee.

L. K. Crissey spent today at Beloit.

Miss Mary Stevens has left for a visit of several weeks with relatives at Webster, South Dakota.

Miss Lillian Leahy of Milwaukee, is the guest of Miss Jessie George.</

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

MIGHT-HAVE-BEEN MIRAGES.
NOT to have given up the day to them would have been to show the worth of inquisitiveness, as well as to deprive myself of great pleasure. So the present had thrown down when the knocker announced my arrival lay idle for the day.

No, of course I enjoyed the enforced hold, and yet (how seldom "and yet" is it true from our dearest pleasures) and yet their coming was in the way of fortune. You see I was in an unusually good mood for working and if I had not been interrupted I should have accomplished wonders, I feel sure.

But would I have?

That is the point I want to bring out.

Would the mood have lasted if it had had a chance to last? Would it have lived to a ripe and fruitful old age? It hadn't been cut off untimely in its youth, or might it have shortly died of inaction as so many such moods do?

I am afraid I can guess the answer.

I know a woman who hates to go to bed early. She will frequently sit up until one or two o'clock over an alluring book or a piece of embroidery; she seldom goes to bed before midnight and is unquestionably injuring her health by the short rations of sleep she allows herself, and yet when, for some reasons, any member of her family depends upon her sitting up on some special evening and tells her so, she is very much aggrieved.

"I was planning to go to bed early tonight," she invariably says.

On one occasion she was particularly disturbed. "I am unusually tired and meant to go to bed very early," she said. Thinking it would be a shame to miss such a service, or duty managed to arrange it so that she could go to bed early as she chose. So she sat up until two o'clock.

Once upon a time I had a little group of vari-colored poppies in my garden. One poppy but was extraordinarily large, and I watched it with special care. But just the day it lifted its head to the perpendicular and made ready to bloom an accident befell it and it fell off. And then of course I knew it would never bear the sweetest poppy in all my garden!

So it never is. The chance we miss is the chance of a lifetime. The chance we don't lose would have been ideal. The baby that died would have been the handsomest and wisest of the whole brood.

Through the golden haze of distance and mystery we see our "It might have been" in glorious hues, and not even the wisest traveler in the great wilderness can ever quite discount these mirages.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Rusty needles can be remedied by placing the needles in coal oil for a few minutes.

Vinegar will remove fly-specks from almost anything—windows, picture frames, woodwork, etc.

There is something of a tonic for the skin and hair—roughness of the skin and rashes. If applied after washing the hands, it should be permitted to dry on.

Why not tack white oilcloth on your kitchen cupboard shelves, in place of always having to replace clean paper?

THE TABLE.

Tomato Relish—Cut stem ends from ripe tomatoes. Remove the pulp, mix with an equal quantity of chopped cucumber and season well with salt and pepper. Replace in the tomatoes and serve on a lettuce leaf with mayonnaise dressing.

Canned Melon—Pare melon and cut in cubes and brown it in a little butter. Slice an onion and fry it brown in a tablespoonful of butter. Add to this the fried melon and to this add a teaspoonful of milk. Let it cook, covered, for ten or fifteen minutes.

Imperial Pudding—Soak one heap

ing teaspoonful of gelatin and one-quarter cup of rice in one pint of water until tender; drain, add one-half cup of sugar; cook until mushy, then pour through a ricer or sieve; cool. Heat one-half pint of new milk to boiling point and stir into gelatin. When the rice is cool stir in and flavor taste. After combining the above materials, while one-half pint of thick cream is very stiff, stir together and mold. Serve very cold with cream or chocolate syrup, with ground or chopped nuts on top of each slice.

Blueberry Pie—Line a deep pie tin with good plain paste. Mix with white of egg mixed with water. Fill with washed and floured blueberries, add sugar in proportion to one cupful of sugar to three of berries, one tablespoonful of butter, a pinch of salt, and about a teaspoonful of lemon juice or a teaspoonful of vinegar. Bake with upper crust.

Baked Apple Salad—Choose an apple of good size (Northern Spy is good variety). Pare it thoroughly done and skin is loosened from apple. When cool, the skin can be entirely removed, the apple center stuffed with nuts and served on lettuce with salad dressing and whipped cream. This is very delicious to the taste and very pretty to the eye.

Nellie Maxwell.

Surprising Results from the Use of NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

For imparting health to the scalp and luxuriance to the hair nothing excels NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE. It is familiarly known to thousands of users throughout the World as the Original Remedy for destroying dandruff contagion and saving the hair and as a delightful hair-dressing. The letter from Mrs. C. K. Sharp of Luverne, Ala., which comes voluntarily and unsolicited, is a glowing tribute to the wonderful power for good concealed in this well-known scalp prophylactic.

READ MRS. SHARP'S LETTER.

Luverne, Ala., Feb. 16, 1913.
In 1911, we adopted a little girl from the Orphanage. Her head was almost entirely covered with what we term "scaled head," one side being entirely bald. I used every remedy I ever read or heard of, including physician's prescriptions but they availed nothing. At last in desperation and as an experiment, because it isn't advertised for that, I began on Herpicide. The first few applications stopped the itching. After using two and a half bottles she was entirely cured.

I wish you could see her hair. If I had used any more Herpicide I don't know what we would have done with it as she already has hair enough for two. The bald places are well covered and it is peculiar that all the new hair is curly while the old hair is straight. The child, whose name is Elcurtis is now eight years old and calls herself the "Herpicide Girl!"

MRS. C. K. SHARP,
Each day reveals almost marvelous and frequently astonishing results achieved by the use of NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE. There are surprises in every bottle which may be expected by the one who uses HERPICIDE carefully and intelligently. While the results are not always of such an astonishing nature as those experienced by Mrs. Sharp they are invariably satisfying.

HERPICIDE eradicates the contagion that causes dandruff and thus checks itching of the scalp and falling hair. The life, luster and luxuriance of the hair, so intensely admired by everyone, has come to be naturally associated with NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE, the exquisite and delightful hair-dressing.

TRY IT AND BE CONVINCED.

Send 10 Cents for Trial Bottle and Booklet. SEE COUPON.
Two Sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold and Guaranteed Everywhere.

Your Money Back if You Are Not Satisfied.

Applications at the Better Barber Shops.

J. P. Baker & Son
Special Agents.

DON'T WAIT AND SEND TO DAY FOR SAMPLE
THE HERPICIDE COMPANY, Dear 102 E. Da-troit, Mich. Please send me sample bottle of herpicide, also a book of the same, a copy of the hair Address:
City:
State:

The Awakening of Peggy

LXX.
Introducing an Interesting Stranger Whom All the Girls are Anxious to Meet.

It was at a dancing party that Peggy It is hard to furnish even to one's self Parker Condrey. A stranger in a reason for such things, but Peggy had aroused the interest and felt instinctively that this meeting curiosity of all the girls. A strange was an event. Something seemed to young man, if of an agreeable and interesting appearance, the object of this evening and this moment.

Mr. Condrey begged for a dance, the appraisal than he is generally aware fine Peggy could spare. After

"Who is the new man?" breathlessly whispered Patty Smith, one of Peggy's bazaar friends, as she rushed up after the close of a dance.

"Don't know; haven't asked him," replied Peggy, laconically. "Why lost your heart to the good-looking stranger, too?"

"Of course not!" denied Peggy, with mock indignation. "What an idea! But, tell me, who is he, and where does he come from?"

"Just out of college a few months ago," George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?" "Look here, Peggy," demanded George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?"

"Father's well fixed, but insatiable son to be stamped with the rest."

"If you would succeed in the wretched game, Aunt Betty had once told her to remember that it is easier to do as the quarry rather than as the hounds."

"How interesting," murmured Peggy. She meant it, even more than herself waited developments.

She couldn't see any special reason for being silly about a new man, even if he did look rather nice, and prepossessing, and interesting.

The evening had hardly started, however, when Peggy and Mr. Condrey were introduced by Bill Burbank.

(Continued.)

It was at a dancing party that Peggy It is hard to furnish even to one's self Parker Condrey. A stranger in a reason for such things, but Peggy had aroused the interest and felt instinctively that this meeting curiosity of all the girls. A strange was an event. Something seemed to young man, if of an agreeable and interesting appearance, the object of this evening and this moment.

Mr. Condrey begged for a dance, the appraisal than he is generally aware fine Peggy could spare. After

"Who is the new man?" breathlessly whispered Patty Smith, one of Peggy's bazaar friends, as she rushed up after the close of a dance.

"Don't know; haven't asked him," replied Peggy, laconically. "Why lost your heart to the good-looking stranger, too?"

"Of course not!" denied Peggy, with mock indignation. "What an idea! But, tell me, who is he, and where does he come from?"

"Just out of college a few months ago," George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?" "Look here, Peggy," demanded George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?"

"Father's well fixed, but insatiable son to be stamped with the rest."

"If you would succeed in the wretched game, Aunt Betty had once told her to remember that it is easier to do as the quarry rather than as the hounds."

"How interesting," murmured Peggy. She meant it, even more than herself waited developments.

She couldn't see any special reason for being silly about a new man, even if he did look rather nice, and prepossessing, and interesting.

The evening had hardly started, however, when Peggy and Mr. Condrey were introduced by Bill Burbank.

(Continued.)

It was at a dancing party that Peggy It is hard to furnish even to one's self Parker Condrey. A stranger in a reason for such things, but Peggy had aroused the interest and felt instinctively that this meeting curiosity of all the girls. A strange was an event. Something seemed to young man, if of an agreeable and interesting appearance, the object of this evening and this moment.

Mr. Condrey begged for a dance, the appraisal than he is generally aware fine Peggy could spare. After

"Who is the new man?" breathlessly whispered Patty Smith, one of Peggy's bazaar friends, as she rushed up after the close of a dance.

"Don't know; haven't asked him," replied Peggy, laconically. "Why lost your heart to the good-looking stranger, too?"

"Of course not!" denied Peggy, with mock indignation. "What an idea! But, tell me, who is he, and where does he come from?"

"Just out of college a few months ago," George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?" "Look here, Peggy," demanded George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?"

"Father's well fixed, but insatiable son to be stamped with the rest."

"If you would succeed in the wretched game, Aunt Betty had once told her to remember that it is easier to do as the quarry rather than as the hounds."

"How interesting," murmured Peggy. She meant it, even more than herself waited developments.

She couldn't see any special reason for being silly about a new man, even if he did look rather nice, and prepossessing, and interesting.

The evening had hardly started, however, when Peggy and Mr. Condrey were introduced by Bill Burbank.

(Continued.)

It was at a dancing party that Peggy It is hard to furnish even to one's self Parker Condrey. A stranger in a reason for such things, but Peggy had aroused the interest and felt instinctively that this meeting curiosity of all the girls. A strange was an event. Something seemed to young man, if of an agreeable and interesting appearance, the object of this evening and this moment.

Mr. Condrey begged for a dance, the appraisal than he is generally aware fine Peggy could spare. After

"Who is the new man?" breathlessly whispered Patty Smith, one of Peggy's bazaar friends, as she rushed up after the close of a dance.

"Don't know; haven't asked him," replied Peggy, laconically. "Why lost your heart to the good-looking stranger, too?"

"Of course not!" denied Peggy, with mock indignation. "What an idea! But, tell me, who is he, and where does he come from?"

"Just out of college a few months ago," George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?" "Look here, Peggy," demanded George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?"

"Father's well fixed, but insatiable son to be stamped with the rest."

"If you would succeed in the wretched game, Aunt Betty had once told her to remember that it is easier to do as the quarry rather than as the hounds."

"How interesting," murmured Peggy. She meant it, even more than herself waited developments.

She couldn't see any special reason for being silly about a new man, even if he did look rather nice, and prepossessing, and interesting.

The evening had hardly started, however, when Peggy and Mr. Condrey were introduced by Bill Burbank.

(Continued.)

It was at a dancing party that Peggy It is hard to furnish even to one's self Parker Condrey. A stranger in a reason for such things, but Peggy had aroused the interest and felt instinctively that this meeting curiosity of all the girls. A strange was an event. Something seemed to young man, if of an agreeable and interesting appearance, the object of this evening and this moment.

Mr. Condrey begged for a dance, the appraisal than he is generally aware fine Peggy could spare. After

"Who is the new man?" breathlessly whispered Patty Smith, one of Peggy's bazaar friends, as she rushed up after the close of a dance.

"Don't know; haven't asked him," replied Peggy, laconically. "Why lost your heart to the good-looking stranger, too?"

"Of course not!" denied Peggy, with mock indignation. "What an idea! But, tell me, who is he, and where does he come from?"

"Just out of college a few months ago," George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?" "Look here, Peggy," demanded George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?"

"Father's well fixed, but insatiable son to be stamped with the rest."

"If you would succeed in the wretched game, Aunt Betty had once told her to remember that it is easier to do as the quarry rather than as the hounds."

"How interesting," murmured Peggy. She meant it, even more than herself waited developments.

She couldn't see any special reason for being silly about a new man, even if he did look rather nice, and prepossessing, and interesting.

The evening had hardly started, however, when Peggy and Mr. Condrey were introduced by Bill Burbank.

(Continued.)

It was at a dancing party that Peggy It is hard to furnish even to one's self Parker Condrey. A stranger in a reason for such things, but Peggy had aroused the interest and felt instinctively that this meeting curiosity of all the girls. A strange was an event. Something seemed to young man, if of an agreeable and interesting appearance, the object of this evening and this moment.

Mr. Condrey begged for a dance, the appraisal than he is generally aware fine Peggy could spare. After

"Who is the new man?" breathlessly whispered Patty Smith, one of Peggy's bazaar friends, as she rushed up after the close of a dance.

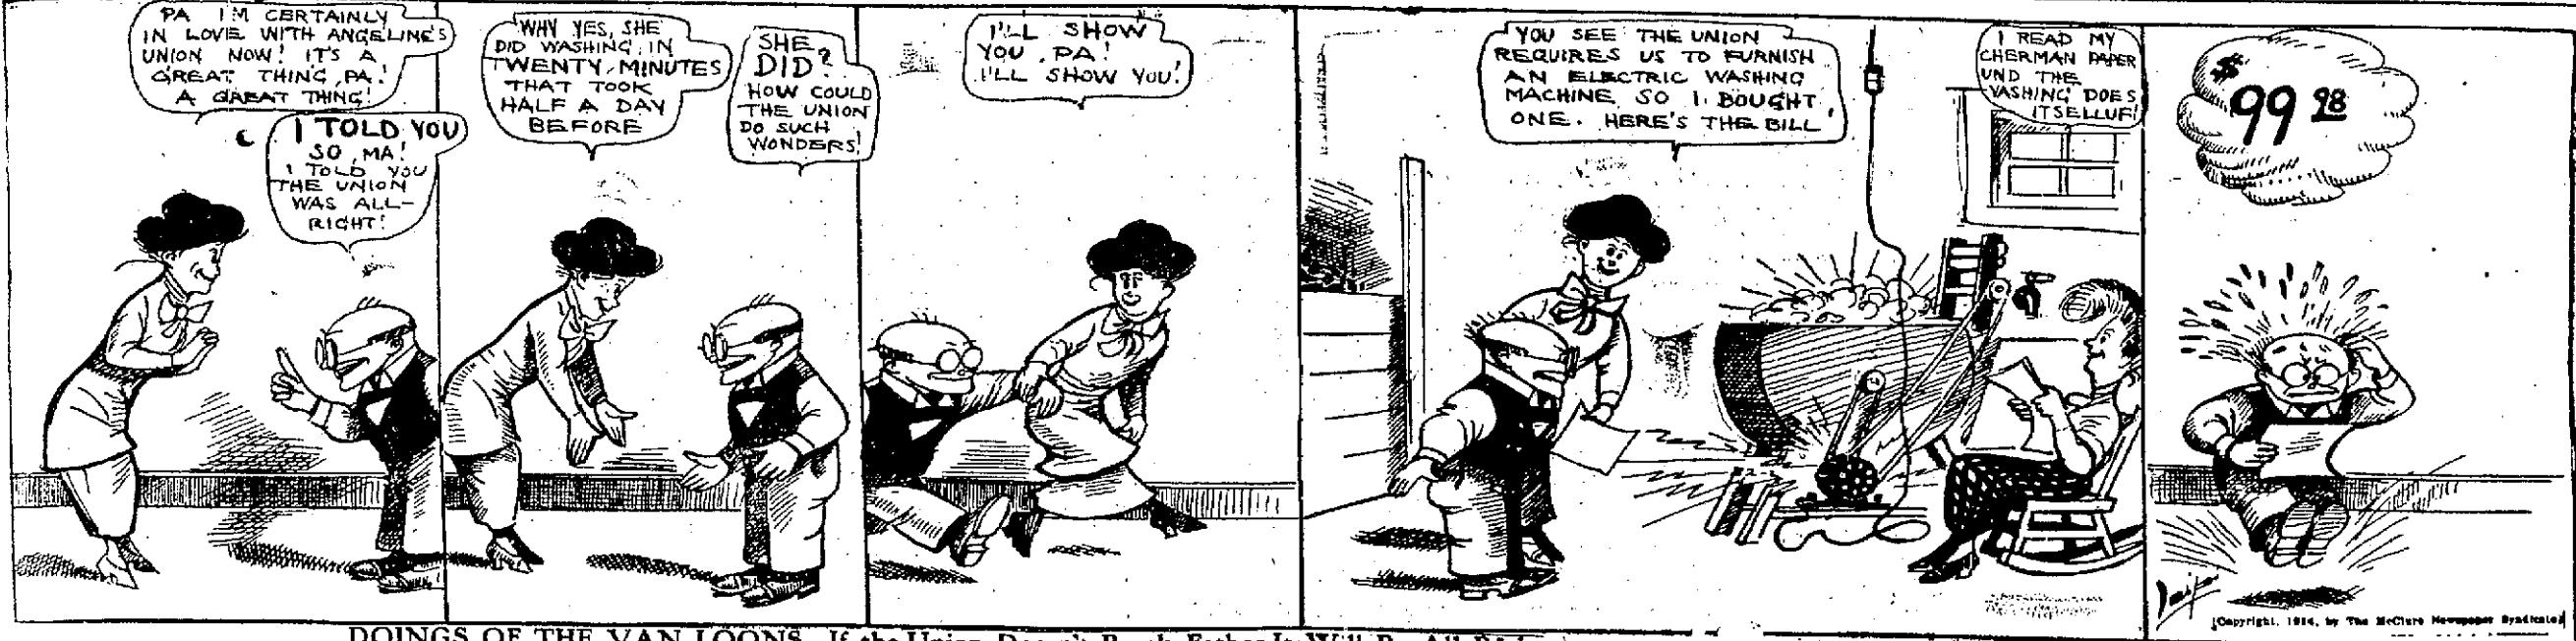

"Don't know; haven't asked him," replied Peggy, laconically. "Why lost your heart to the good-looking stranger, too?"

"Of course not!" denied Peggy, with mock indignation. "What an idea! But, tell me, who is he, and where does he come from?"

"Just out of college a few months ago," George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?" "Look here, Peggy," demanded George Hinkley, jokingly, "have you seen him?"

"Father's well fixed, but insatiable son to be stamped with the rest."

"If you would

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—If the Union Doesn't Break Father It Will Be All Right

BY F. LEIPZIGER

Copyright, 1914, by The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The Last Shot

By FREDERICK PALMER

(Copyright, 1914, by Charles Scribner's Sons)

"I hope that you are not surprised at the result," said the oldest of the officers, a man of late middle age, rather affectionately and teasingly. He wore a single order on his breast, a plain iron cross, and the insignia of his rank was that of a field-marshal.

"Not now. I should be again, sir," said Lanstron, looking full at the field-marshal in the appeal of one asking for another chance. "I was wool-gathering. But I shall not wool-gather next time. I've got a reminder more urgent than a string tied around my finger."

"Yes, that hand needs immediate attention," said the doctor. He and another officer began helping Lanstron into the automobile.

"Good-by!" he called to the young girl, who was still watching him with big, sympathetic eyes. "I am coming back soon and land in the field, there, and when I do, I'll claim a bunch of fifteen years."

"Do! What fun!" she cried, as the car started.

"The field-marshal was Partow, their chief of staff?" Westerling asked.

"Yes," said Mrs. Galland. "I remember when he was a young infantry officer before the last war, before he had won the iron cross and become so great. He was not of an army family—a doctor's son, but very clever and skilful."

"Getting a little old for his work!" remarked Westerling. "But apparently he is keen enough to take a personal interest in anything new."

"Wasn't it thrilling and—and terrible!" Marta exclaimed.

"Yes, like war at our own door again," replied Mrs. Galland, who knew war. She had seen war raging on the pass road. "Lanstron, the young man said his name was," she resumed after a pause. "No doubt the Lanstrone of Thorbourg. An old family and many of them in the army."

"The way he refused to give in—that was fine!" said Marta.

Westerling, who had been engrossed in his own thoughts, looked up.

"Courage is the cheapest thing an army has! You can get hundreds of young officers who are glad to take a risk of that kind. The thing is," and his fingers pressed in on the palm of his hand in a pounding gesture of the forearm, "to direct and command—head work—organization!"

"It war should come again—" Marta began. Mrs. Galland nudged her. A Brown never mentioned war to an officer of the Grays; it was not at all in the accepted proprieties. But Marta rushed on: "So many would be engaged that it would be more horrible than ever."

"You cannot make omelets without breaking eggs," Westerling answered with suave finality.

"Ae airplane will take its place as an auxiliary," he went on, his mind still running on the theme of her prophecy, which the meeting with Lanstron had quickened. "But war will, as ever, be won by the bayonet that takes and holds a position. We shall have no miraclous victories, no—"

There he broke off. He did not accompany Mrs. Galland and Marta back to the house, but made his adiuns at the garden-gate.

"I'm sure that I shall never marry a soldier!" Marta burst out as she and her mother were ascending the steps.

CHAPTER II.

Ten Years Later.

His Excellency the chief of staff of the Grays was seldom in his office. His Excellency had years, rank, prestige. The breast of his uniform sagged with the weight of his decorations. He appeared for the army at great functions; his picture was in the shop windows. Hedworth Westerling, the new vice-chief of staff, was content with this arrangement. His years would not permit him the supreme honor. This was for a figurehead, while he had the power.

His appointment to the staff ten years ago had given him the field he wanted, the capital itself, for the play of his abilities. His vital energy, his impressive personality, his gift for courting the influences that counted, whether man's or woman's, his astute readiness in stooping to some measures that were in keeping with the times but not with army precedent, had won for him the goal of his ambition. He had passed over the heads of older men, whom many thought his betters, rather ruthlessly. Those who would serve loyally he drew around him; those who were bitter he crowded out of his way.

In the adjoining room, occupied by Westerling, the walls were hung with the silhouettes of infantrymen, such as you see at maneuvers, in different positions of firing, crouching in shallow trenches, standing in deep trenches, or lying flat on the stomach on level earth. Another silhouette, that of an infantryman running, was peppered with white points in arms and legs and parts of the body that were not vital, to show in how many places a man may be hit with a small-caliber bullet and still survive.

In this day of universal European conception, if Westerling wore to win in war it would be with five million-five hundred thousand more than when he faced a young Brown officer over the wreck of an aeroplane—including the reserves; each man running, firing, crouching, as was the figure on the wall, and trying to give more of the white points that peppered the silhouette that he received.

Now Turcas, the assistant vice-chief of staff, and Bouchard, chief of the division of intelligence, standing on either side of Westerling's desk, awaited his decisions on certain matters which they had brought to his attention. Both were older than Westerling, Turcas by ten and Bouchard by fifteen years.

Turcas had been strongly urged in inner army circles for the place that Westerling had won, but his manner and his ability to court influence were against him. A lath of a man and stiff as a lath, pale, with thin, tightly-drawn lips, quiet, steel-gray eyes, a tracery of blue veins showing on his full temples, he suggested the ascetic no less than the soldier, while his incisive brevity of speech, flavored now and then with pungent humor, without any inflection in his dry voice, was in keeping with his appearance. He arrived with the clerks in the morning and frequently remained after they were gone. As a master of detail Westerling regarded him as an invaluable assistant, with certain limitations, which were those of the pigeonhole and the treadmill.

As for Bouchard, nature had meant him to be a wheel-horse. He had never had any hope of being chief of staff. Hawk-eyed, with a great black nose and iron-gray hair, intensely and solemnly serious, lacking a sense of humor, he would have looked at home with his big, bony hands gripping a broadsword hilt and his lank body clothed in chain armor. He had a mastiff's devotion to its master for his chief.

"Since Lanstron became chief of intelligence of the Browns information seems to have stopped," said Westerling, but not complainingly. He appreciated Bouchard's loyalty.

"Yes, they say he even burns his laundry bills, he is so careful," Bouchard replied.

"But that we ought to know," Westerling proceeded, referring very inconsistently to a secret of the Browns which had baffled Bouchard. "Try a woman," he went on with that terse, hard directness which reflected one of his sides. "There is nobody like a woman for that sort of thing. Spend enough to get the right woman."

Turcas and Bouchard exchanged a glance, which rose suggestively from the top of the head of the seated vice-chief of staff. Turcas smiled slightly, while Bouchard was grave as usual.

"You could hardly reach Lanstron though you spent a queen's ransom," said Bouchard in his literal fashion.

"I should say not!" Westerling exclaimed. "No doubt about Lanstron's being all there! I saw him ten years ago after his first aeroplane flight under conditions that proved it. However, he must have susceptible subordinates."

"We'll set all the machinery we have to work to find one, sir," Bouchard replied.

"Another thing, we must dismiss any idea that they are concealing either artillery or dirigibles or planes that we do not know of," continued Westerling. "That is a fragment of our apprehensions. The fact that we find no truth in the rumors proves that there is none. Such things are too important to be concealed by one army from another."

"Lanstron certainly cannot carry them in his pockets," remarked Turcas. "Still, we must be sure," he added, thoughtfully, more to himself than to Westerling, who had already turned his attention to a document which Turcas laid on the desk.

"The 128th Regiment has been ordered to South La Tir, but no order yet given for the 132d, whose place it takes," he explained.

"Let it remain for the present!" Westerling replied.

After they had withdrawn, the look that passed between Turcas and Bouchard was a pointed question. The 132d to remain at South La Tir! Was there something more than "newspaper talk" in this latest diplomatic crisis between the Grays and the Browns? Westerling alone was in the confidence of the premier of late. Any exchange of ideas between the two subordinates would be fruitless surprise and against the very instinct of staff secrecy, where every man knew only his work and asked about no one else.

Westerling ran through the papers that Turcas had prepared for him. It Turcas had written them, Westerling knew that they were properly done. Having cleared his desk into the hands of his executive clerk, he looked at the silhouette that he received.

Now Turcas, the assistant vice-chief of staff, and Bouchard, chief of the division of intelligence, standing on either side of Westerling's deck, awaited his decisions on certain matters which they had brought to his attention. Both were older than Westerling, Turcas by ten and Bouchard by fifteen years.

Turcas had been strongly urged in inner army circles for the place that Westerling had won, but his manner and his ability to court influence were against him. A lath of a man and stiff as a lath, pale, with thin, tightly-drawn lips, quiet, steel-gray eyes, a tracery of blue veins showing on his full temples, he suggested the ascetic no less than the soldier, while his incisive brevity of speech, flavored now and then with pungent humor, without any inflection in his dry voice, was in keeping with his appearance. He arrived with the clerks in the morning and frequently remained after they were gone. As a master of detail Westerling regarded him as an invaluable assistant, with certain limitations, which were those of the pigeonhole and the treadmill.

As for Bouchard, nature had meant him to be a wheel-horse. He had never had any hope of being chief of staff.

Hawk-eyed, with a great black nose and iron-gray hair, intensely and solemnly serious, lacking a sense of humor, he would have looked at home with his big, bony hands gripping a broadsword hilt and his lank body clothed in chain armor. He had a mastiff's devotion to its master for his chief.

"Since Lanstron became chief of intelligence of the Browns information seems to have stopped," said Westerling, but not complainingly. He appreciated Bouchard's loyalty.

"Yes, they say he even burns his laundry bills, he is so careful," Bouchard replied.

"But that we ought to know," Westerling proceeded, referring very inconsistently to a secret of the Browns which had baffled Bouchard. "Try a woman," he went on with that terse, hard directness which reflected one of his sides. "There is nobody like a woman for that sort of thing. Spend enough to get the right woman."

Turcas and Bouchard exchanged a glance, which rose suggestively from the top of the head of the seated vice-chief of staff. Turcas smiled slightly, while Bouchard was grave as usual.

"You could hardly reach Lanstron though you spent a queen's ransom," said Bouchard in his literal fashion.

"I should say not!" Westerling exclaimed. "No doubt about Lanstron's being all there! I saw him ten years ago after his first aeroplane flight under conditions that proved it. However, he must have susceptible subordinates."

"We'll set all the machinery we have to work to find one, sir," Bouchard replied.

"Another thing, we must dismiss any idea that they are concealing either artillery or dirigibles or planes that we do not know of," continued Westerling. "That is a fragment of our apprehensions. The fact that we find no truth in the rumors proves that there is none. Such things are too important to be concealed by one army from another."

"Lanstron certainly cannot carry them in his pockets," remarked Turcas. "Still, we must be sure," he added, thoughtfully, more to himself

THE WORLD SET FREE

Europe's Armageddon and the Last War

By H. G. WELLS

Copyright, 1914, by H. G. WELLS

dikes and in a little while the sea water would be upon us."

He goes on to tell with a certain prolixity of the steps he took—and, all things considered, they were very intelligent steps—to meet this amazing crisis. He got his men aboard and hauled the adjacent barges; he got the men who acted as barge engineer at his post and the engines working; he cast loose from his moorings. Then he brought himself of food and contrived to land five men, get a few dozen cheeses and ship his men again before the inundation reached them.

He is reasonably proud of this piece of coolness. His idea was to take the wave head-on and with his engines full speed ahead. And all the while he was thanking heaven he was not in the jam of traffic in the main canal. He turned about for protection to the south and west and neared, and then I saw coming as fast and much nearer to me, as if they had sprung out of the darkness, three banks of aeroplanes, a group of squadrons very high, a main body at a height perhaps of one or two thousand feet, and doubtful number flying low and very indistinct. The middle ones were so thick they kept putting out groups of stars. And I realized that, after all, there was to be nothing to see.

He does not give any estimate of the time it took between the bursting of the dike and the arrival of the waves, but it was probably an interval of about twenty minutes or half an hour. He was working now in darkness—save for the light of his lantern—and in a great wind. He hung out head and stern lights.

Whirling torrents of steam were pouring up from the advancing waters, which had rushed, it must be remembered, through nearly incandescent gaps in the sea defenses, and this vast uprush of vapor soon veiled the dashing centers of explosion altogether.

"The waters came at last, an advancing cascade. It was like a broad roller sweeping across the country. They came with a deep roaring sound. I had expected a Niagara, but the total fall of the front could not have been much more than twelve feet. Our barge hesitated for a moment, took a dose over her bows and then lifted. I signalled for full speed ahead and brought her head upstream and held on like grim death to keep her there.

"There was a wind about as strong as the flood, and I found we were pounding against every conceivable buoyant object that had been between us and the sea. The only light in the world now came from our lamps, the steam became impenetrable at a score

"The battle was joined with the swiftness of dreams. I do not think it can have been five minutes from the moment when I first became aware of the central European air fleet to the contact of the two forces. I saw it quite plainly in silhouette against the luminous blue of the northern sky. The allied aeroplanes—they were mostly French—came pouring down like a fierce shower upon the middle of the central European fleet. They looked exactly like a coarser sort of rain. There was a crackling sound—the first sound I heard. It reminded one of the aurora borealis, and I suppose it was an interchange of rifle shots. There were dashes like summer lightning, and then all the sky became a whirling confusion of battle that was still largely noiseless. Some of the central European aeroplanes were certainly charged and overset; others seemed to collapse and fall and then flare out with so bright a light that it took the edge off one's vision and made the rest of the battle disappear as though it had been snatched back out of sight.

"And then while I still peered and tried to shade these flames from my eyes with my hand and while the men about me were beginning to stir the atomic bombs were thrown at the dikes. They made a mighty thunder in the air and fell like Lucifer in the picture, leaving a flaring trail in the sky. The night, which had been pellicid and detailed and eventful, seemed to vanish, to be replaced abruptly by a black background to these tremendous pillars of fire.

"Hard upon the sound of them came a roaring wind, and the sky was filled with flickering lightnings and rushing clouds.

"There was something disconcerting in this impact. At one moment I was a lonely watcher in a sleeping world; the next saw every one about me afoot, the whole world awake and amazed.

"And then the wind had struck me a buffet, taken my helmet and swept aside the summer house of Vreugde bij vrede as a scythe sweeps away grass. I saw the bomb fall and then watched a great crimson flare leap responsive to each impact and mountainous masses of red lit steam and flying fragments clamber up toward the zenith. Against the glare, I saw the countryside for miles standing black and clear, churches, trees, chimneys. And suddenly I understood. The central Europeans had burst the dikes.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy we know for woman's ills. If you need such a medicine why don't you try it?

"If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

Flowers Used as Food.
It is not a matter of common knowledge that in a great many countries nearly all the flowers are used as articles of food. We sometimes use nasturtiums in salads, but we would hardly think of boiling them down to make a dish resembling salad.

A JANESEVILLE MAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Results Tell the Tale.

Can you doubt the evidence of this Janesville citizen?

You can verify Janesville endorsement.

Read this:

C. W. Allen, retired farmer, 468 N. Chatham St., Janesville, says: I suffered from rheumatic pains in my back when I bent over and my muscles and joints were twisted out of shape. My feet were swollen and the flesh under my eyes was all puffed up. I couldn't sleep well, my kidneys acted too freely and the secretions were scanty. The passages were accompanied by a burning pain. I had to be awfully careful or I would catch cold on my kidneys. I spent hundreds of dollars for doctors' treatments, but I kept growing worse. One day the doctor told me I would be dead in three months. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from the People's Drug Co., and they completely and permanently cured me. My kidneys have been in good shape since. The swellings have all left me and the rheumatic pain is all gone. I am Hale and hearty, even if I am over seventy-seven years old. Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Allen had. Foster-Milburn Co., Prop., Buffalo, N. Y.

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Allen had. Foster-Milburn Co., Prop., Buffalo, N. Y.

Tires Guaranteed 3500 Miles

Buy your tires now. Now is the time, and 103 N. Main St., Janesville, Wis., is the place. Following are the prices; don't pay more.

Size	Plain	Non-skid	Size	Plain	Non-skid

<tbl_r cells="6" ix="2" maxcspan="1" maxrspan="1" usedcols

Side Lights On The Circus Business

By
D. W. WATT

On the evening of the Ringling show after bidding some friends good-bye I started down town and had not gone a short distance when I over took an old gentleman, and was soon in conversation with him. I asked him if he was connected with the show, and he said: "Yes, Mr. Watt, I have been with the Ringlings for 15 years, and have known you by sight for many years." And when I asked him that did not recollect him, he said: "I was a driver with the show for 14 years, and last summer when the horses were arranging the show for the summer, they called me into the office and said, 'Dadie, we are going to give you a new job.' You see, said the old man, 'I will be 70 years old next birthday, and the boys thought that I was too old a man to climb up on top of the high platform and drive over the road from the gate late at night; so they gave me a position taking tickets at the main entrance to the reserved seats, and one evening when there is a light noise, I can go to the cars and go to bed."

I told him it was certainly nice of them to make this change for him, for he had been in the business so long, that it meant more to him than any other kind of work.

The old gentleman said, "Yes, I want to stay there as long as I am able to make myself useful."

One of the most amusing things to me in the show was the old elephant that played the bass drum with his trunk after the trumpet had announced all the elephants and put their instruments in position, the old fellow that was to play the bass drum just before they started, turned around and took a look at the drum to see if it was located within easy reach, so that he might not miss it. Yet many people think that these animals do not know.

Last month when the Sells-Floto & Buffalo Bill Show was in Des Moines, Iowa, Colonel Cody, Buffalo Bill, was given the street of honor when he was given by the Chamber of Commerce. After the luncheon, Colonel Cody gave them a thirty minute talk on his frontier life in the early 90's, while he was with the Indians, under the direction of General Phil Sheridan.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

PORTER

Porter, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Charles Monthly was taken suddenly ill with appendicitis on Tuesday and was rushed to Dr. Smith's hospital at Evansville.

Mrs. Margaret Earle and son, Will, of Edgerton, called at the home of Mr. Boden during the early part of the week.

Miss Nettie Armit began her school duties at the Lienan district on Monday.

Master Robert Earle returned to Janesville on Tuesday to resume his school work.

Messrs. Scott and Schrode of Janesville, were callers at the home of R. L. Earle on Wednesday.

Nate Young of Evansville called at the homes of W. W. McCarthy and Mrs. Mary McCarthy on Thursday.

Edward Caser is assisting Mr. Munson with tobacco harvest.

Friends in this vicinity are sorry to learn of the serious illness of Mrs. Olson of Dunkirk. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boden.

Earl Young enrolled as a student at the Lienan school on Tuesday.

Miss Marion and Margaret Earle of Clarence McCarthy began their high school work at Edgerton on Monday. This is Miss Margaret's first year.

Miss Henrietta Boden of Madison is visiting at the parental home.

Miss Lucile Earle is making preparations to take the training at Mercy hospital at Janesville.

Mrs. Mary Watson spent Wednesday with Mrs. Mary McCarthy.

Misses Nora and Margaret McCarthy were Stoughton shoppers on Friday.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville, Sept. 11.—A special train, consisting of nine empty coaches, passed through the village on Thursday evening, enroute for the west to bring traffic to the Monroe fair. A special also ran on Friday morning, carrying from this side of the Green county city.

Dr. Forbush left on Thursday afternoon for a few days' visit with friends at Fond du Lac and Appleton. He also expects to spend some time at M. E. conference at the former city.

A good sized delegation attended the Green county fair on Friday, in spite of the unfavorable weather. They report an excellent exhibit.

Charles Taylor left on Friday morning to attend the layman's conference in connection with the annual conference that is in session at Fond du Lac.

The Ladies' Aid Society who had advertised to serve lunch on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Warren changed their plans, on account of the unfavorable weather and served it at the church parlors, where there was a good attendance.

H. F. Silverthorn left on Thursday for a business trip through Iowa and Minnesota. He will be gone about a week.

The heavy strain proved too much for the engine, which stalled, however, and one by one, the engineers found themselves stalled above spread rails, unable to continue forward or to retreat. The leading train reached a point midway between Plainwell and Cooper, while the second was stalled just outside of Plainwell. The third train reached its limit at Otsego, and here the outfit remained throughout the day and night, hemmed in on all sides by water and unable for many hours to communicate with agents in Kalamazoo.

A report reached Kalamazoo early yesterday morning to the effect that the circus train had been ditched. Later came a report that two men and twenty horses had been killed in the wreck. Not until the circus manager could communicate with local representatives was the report disclaimed and the real circumstances made known.

A portion of the circus regalia and a part of the menagerie was unloaded from the train.

Plainwell during the day, but the whole was replaced in the cars late that night in anticipation of the onward move.

Crowds thronged the streets awaiting the advent of the parade and not until late in the afternoon did the visitors resign themselves to the truth of the statement that the Kalamazoo date had been cancelled.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman; F. P. Jordan, James A. Clark and Otto P. Jordan.

The question of operating a winter circus in the event the show decides to make Indianapolis its headquarters will receive attention. The State fair ground has been suggested as the site for winter quarters and it has been pointed out that the coliseum offers exceptional advantages for the presentation of a circus in winter.

Colonel Cody always gets a warm welcome in Iowa, for he was born there and it is there that he spent his boyhood days.

Arrangements were made for a conference early this week between the representative of the owners of the Valentine-Teekay Shows and a six-man committee of the Chamber of Commerce, at which the proposal that the circus make its winter headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana, will be discussed. The chamber committee is composed of Fred J. Willis, chairman;

The Trey O' Hearts

A Novelized Version of the Motion Picture Drama of the Same Name
Produced by the Universal Film Co.

By LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE
Author of "The Fortune Hunter," "The Brass Bowl," "The Black Bag," etc.
Illustrated with Photographs from the Picture Production

Copyright, 1914, by Louis Joseph Vance

"That goes double here," his companion rejoined. "And the way I see it, I've got a right to do all the cussing at this juncture of our hero's foolish, but fascinating adventures. In the injured party—it was my boat, if now it's gone. I'm broke for fair!" he pursued vindictively.

"Oh, let us, can't you?" Mr. Law exclaimed peevishly. "I'm sorrier than I are—and after all, it's my loss; I've got to buy you another boat. All you've lost is your temper."

"And my susceptibility to the charms of the well-known 'sex,'" Mr. Barcus corrected. "Nothing can ever restore my lost faith in gentle woman's gentleness. When you brought that young woman aboard I thought butter wouldn't melt in her mouth, and for a while I actually contemplated doing her the kindness of tipping you over into the drink, so she could lavish her tender affections on a regular guy, someone able to appreciate her—mean me, of course. And first thing I know, she ups and points a gun at my head and tips me overboard, and then makes a pretty bonfire out of my sailboat. And all the excuse you can produce is that she's crazy in the head! Well, who said she wasn't? Any woman who would consent to sleep with you is a fit subject for a commission de lunatico inquirendo, all right."

"If you inflicted any such monologue as that on Judith," retorted Mr. Law, "I don't blame her for trying to slay you, and I'm sorry I interfered."

"There's gratitude for you!" Mr. Barcus remarked bitterly. "I risk my life for you, and you won't even let me talk about it!"

"It isn't your talking I mind—it's the everlasting noise you make," Mr. Law explained. "Besides—listen!"

For a moment the two maintained attentive silence.

A silken whisper troubled the silence, a little flutter of sound from far across the waters. Gradually it gathered volume, became recognizable as the lisp of cautious oars.

"I'm going away from here," Mr. Barcus announced guardedly, and gathered his legs under him preparatory to rising.

"Half a second," Alan Law insisted, lunging in turn and grasping the other by the arm. "They've got to land—aren't they?—and leave the boat while they look for us. Well, then, what to prevent our hiding in the dunes and—?"

In the next breath, "Look out!" he shrieked.

With no warning whatever, and within fifty feet of them, a ghastly fire broke out in full blaze on the surface of the water, revealing the shape of a dory which had drawn in unseen under cover of the profound darkness, and at the same time disengaging to its occupants the two started figures on the beach.

Before they could stir the weird light glimmered on a polished weapon in the bow of the boat, a spittle tongue of reddish flame spat out, a bullet sang between Messrs. Law and Barcus, and with a sad thud of disappointment buried itself in the sand of the wave-swept bluff behind them.

Like twin automatons stirred to action by the report, the two turned and pointed off down the beach, to escape that deadly area of illumination.

Other shots sped after them, but none was so well aimed, and presently, finding a break in the blazes, they swam off into the grateful shelter of the night-wrapped dunes.

Meantime the dory had grounded on the beach, and its several occupants—four or five of them, all men, apparently—jumping out, set off in pursuit of the fugitives, following the tracks in the sand.

The blackness of the night, however, conspired with the savage labyrinth of the dunes to save Alan and his companion.

Within another five minutes—while still the pursuit floundered and blashed at random a round quarter-mile to the south—Mr. Law and Mr. Barcus were noiselessly squirming on their bellies, like two snakes in the beach-grass, up the back of a ten-foot bluff. And presently from its brow they looked down on the spot where the dory lay, only its bow out of water, its stern afloat, under armed guard.

Very slowly and stealthily Alan got to his feet and swung back over his shoulder a heavy club of driftwood.

A match sputtered beside the dory and flamed in the still air, relieving its reddish glow a bronzed and ill visage.

The guard puffed fast and had the tobacco well aglow when the sky took advantage of his trustfulness and fell upon him like an avalanche.

Simultaneously Alan and Barcus descended the face of the bluff in two miniature landslides, dug themselves out, and by the time the dazed and disarmed guard had sufficiently recovered to cry out for help the dory was a hundred yards off the beach and making excellent time in the direction of that lonely green light.

They wrought with the oars like men possessed, yet with a machine-like precision that drove the boat fast and furiously—with attempt to still the splashing of their blades. Concealment of their purpose from those who remained aboard the schooner was out of the question. The shouts, the shots, the play of flashlights along the beach—as though Bedlam had loosed half a dozen lunatics—will affix to the wheel boy, he jerked it sharply three times, and the automaton horn blared raucously a threefold response upward.

"Keep that going," he begged, "three blasts in a row and a minute interval—and if the devil takes care of his own we may possibly escape being run down."

With a sigh, relinquishing the wheel, he collapsed upon the deck and was almost instantly asleep.

The wind had fallen until barely enough air stirred to keep way on the vessel; she moved in silence, a spectral ship upon a spectral sea of long, oily swells and the complexion of lead.

Hither and yon in the obscurity, for strange two-master. Nevertheless, the end of that period found the schooner with canvas full and sheets taut, a good easterly breeze abeam, swiftly weaving a wake southwards—the light on Mohomoy point watching her curiously from over the starboard beam.

"Hear anything more of that power boat?" Alan asked, joining Barcus by the wheel.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

HAD EXCITING TIME IN ESCAPING PARIS

MISS CLARE GRUBB TELLS OF REAL HARDSHIPS EXPERIENCED BY AMERICAN TOURISTS.

WAR STRIKES TERROR

Mobs Swept Streets of Paris When Hostilities Began, While Travelers Rushed to English Channel.

Mrs. John Grubb and daughter, Miss Clare Grubb, of this city, who were among the American tourists in Paris at the outbreak of the European war, have returned to the United States, following some thrilling experiences, and not a few real hardships.

Mrs. Grubb and her daughter are at present at Des Plaines, Ill., from where Miss Grubb writes the following graphic account of their flight from Paris, their arrival in London, and their arduous ocean voyage:

"We were in Paris when the war broke out. Our plans were for a year's stay abroad with a winter in Italy. When we left the British Isles in France, there was trouble only between Austria and Serbia, then war was declared between France and Germany. One night while we were there the Socialist leader was assassinated in a Paris cafe, and that night the troops were stationed in the streets with their bayonets in case of a Socialist uprising.

"After visiting the booking office daily for two weeks, we obtained steerage passage on the St. Paul for August 22, but in Liverpool the day before we were able to change it for second class. Our accommodations, however, were very poor as we and two other ladies were in an inside room on the floor above the steerage. Our steamer took the northern route to save time and we had a storm for four days. One big wave washed over the upper promenade deck and broke forty steering chairs. We had the pleasure of seeing a number of whales leaping about a large iceberg covering about three acres.

"This is a copy of the song we sang on board the St. Paul coming home. tells the experiences of us all:

"Beating It Home in 1914."

"It was August 22nd as we sailed from England's shore,

"A crowd of happy passengers, a thousand and strong or more;

"And as the lights of Liverpool all faded from our view,

"In every heart a song of joy was part of our aleut.

Chorus.

"Then here's to the good St. Paul,

"here's to that happy band

"Sailing from Liverpool to dear old freedom's land.

"And here's to Captain Passow, his officer's and crew;

"No matter what the weather is, they'll bring us safely through.

"The channel steamer carried 1,200,

"twice her capacity, and left 800 behind on the dock. We came by the way of Bologna and Folksone, as the other ports were mined. We stood on the upper deck or sat on the edge of our one's suitcase, with no roof over our heads, while it rained and the smoke from the smokestack settled down upon us. We had nothing to eat since breakfast but were unable to even get to the dining saloon to have a meal. We were obliged to pay our tax in London about 2:00 a.m. with only a few francs in our pocketbook. The hotel was obliged to pay our tax as the driver refused French money. We had been unable to cash traveler's checks in Paris, as there was a run on the Bank of France. People stood before the bank, tea afloat in a line,

"What we've been through to reach our ship, no words can ever tell.

"Been bled by consuls, searched by cops, held up at each hotel.

"Our passports home been vised, stamped, and seized and waved

"As if 'twas we instead of Kaiser Bill who was misbehaved.

We've washed in tubs beside the road at early break of day,

We've clamored at the buffet door, and empty gone away. Our friends have been snatched from us, our clothes have been torn off. We've heard the Dago sneer, and we heard the German scoff.

We've sat or hidden all day long, in trains, without a bite, some dark spot in the middle of the night. But now we smile at all these things, for, on the good St. Paul, where peace awaits us all.

Soon, friends, we will be landed, but we will not be alone. The highwaymen upon the dock, will ransack all we own. But tho' it makes us hot and mad, this let us not forget, America's the finest place, that's been discovered yet.

Sincerely yours,
CLARE GRUBB,
September 10, 1914.

HELD INSTALLATION WEDNESDAY EVENING

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Clinton, Sept. 11.—The installation of officers of the Order of Owls No. 1445 took place on Wednesday evening, September 9th, 1914, at Drake's hall in Clinton.

The installation was conducted by A. G. Hoover, organizer assisted by A. C. Cleveland of this village. Music was furnished by Brother Edward Fonda and daughter of Shoptire. The lodge was organized with 110 members, who with their wives and daughters filled the hall. After the installation all repaired to the Hotel Clinton, where a four course supper was served, during which music was furnished.

At the conclusion a vote of thanks was tendered for one of the best banquets ever served in the village of Clinton. It was a most enjoyable occasion. The next meeting will be held on Wednesday evening, September 23rd. All members are requested to be present at 8 o'clock sharp for the transaction of special business.

There are persons whose earning capacity is no greater than their daily needs; but we are sure there are very few in this prosperous community who cannot save something from their earnings.

Your Money Is Worth 4% At This Bank.

THE BANK OF EVANSVILLE
Evansville, Wis.

Founded 1870.

GEO. L. PULLEN, Pres.

CHIEF OF POLICE CHAMPION SAYS:-

"A small light burning in the rear of a store is the best protection against burglars a merchant can get".

Mr. Merchant Do you realize what this means to you?

Take the advice of a man who knows!

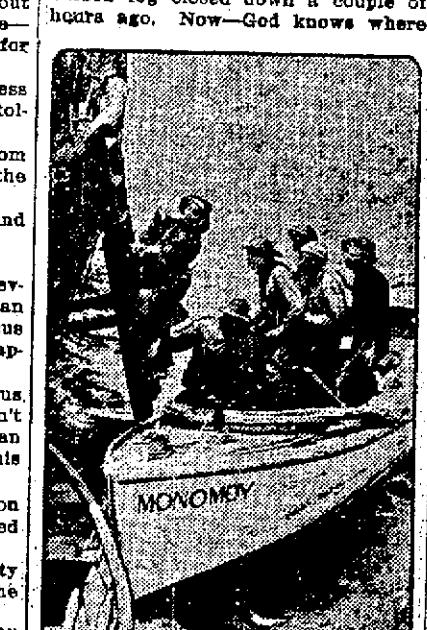

The majority of stores and business houses are closed from 6:00 o'clock p. m. until 7:00 a. m. It is during these hours your place of business is the prey of the thief.

A Reflex light, an 80 candle power lamp costing 1-3 of a cent per hour or 4 1-3c per night is the best and cheapest Burglar Insurance you can get. It means protection.

THINK IT OVER

Let us send a representative and tell you about installing one of these "Protection lights".

New Gas Light Company of Janesville

The Sixth Member of the Boarding Party Was Judith Trine.

We are—by my reckoning, somewhere in Nantucket sound, west of Monomoy.

Grasping a small brass handle

SPECIAL FEATURE PAGE

Copyright 1914 by The International Syndicate.

Personal Sketches of the Emperor of Germany, His Six Warrior Sons, and the Men They Command.

Emperor William's fighting qualities are hereditary for his earliest ancestor, Count Thassilo, of Zollern in Swabia, was one of the generals of Charles the Great. His successor, Count Friedrich I., built the family castle of the Hohenzollern near the Danube in the year 930, and ever since that time the family has been known as the "Fighting Hohenzollerns." It was not until the seventeenth century that the Hohenzollerns had a standing army. Friedrich Wilhelm the Great Elector was responsible for this, and after his reign, which lasted from 1640 to 1688, his son Friedrich I. found himself at the head of a well drilled army of 33,000 men, with such an army at that period it was easy to enlarge one's domain and the King began acquiring land, and when Friedrich Wilhelm III. came to the throne the area of the Hohenzollern lands was nearly one hundred thousand square miles with a population of nine millions. Napoleon appeared about this time and some of the acquired territory was taken by the French.

Came To The Throne In 1858.
Emperor William came to the throne in 1888, and under his dynamic leadership Germany has advanced to the front rank of military power. His reign has been one of the most remarkable in the history of the world, and Germany's great growth in population, her colossal foreign trade, the development of her merchant

Copyright 1914 by The International Syndicate.

"The War Lord" of Europe and His Fighting Sons

CROWN PRINCE WILHELM

The Kaiser Giving Orders

Prince Adalbert

THE KAISER

marine and her countless triumphs in the realms of science and industry make an inspiring story, and after so many years of peace and prosperity it seems almost impossible that war, and war in its worst form, should blot out the escutcheon of this progressive nation. The military spirit, however, has always run riot in Germany. Everything and everybody has a special uniform; even the schoolboy is known by his special cap. Indeed, it has been called the land of uniforms.

Vigorous and virile, the Emperor stands out as the world's most ambitious monarch, and it is said that while he preached peace he plotted war, and the recent developments certainly show that he at least was ready for the great conflict which is now raging in Europe. He has gathered about him such men as Admiral von Tirpitz, Prince Fürstenberg, Doctor von Bethmann Hollweg, Arthur von Gwinner, Prince von Buslow and Count Zeppelin—all men of ability whose aim is for the greatness of the German Empire. The Crown Prince, too, sits among these men with his father, and even at the early age of fifteen the Prince declared to his friends that he loved to listen to his father and Prince Fürstenberg's "talk politics." The Emperor's six sons have been brought up in a military atmosphere, and it would require at least a full column in a daily newspaper to give the names of the regiments and military orders to which the young Princes belong, for they seem to be at least honorary officers of every known military organization, Crown Prince.

The doings of the Crown Prince make, perhaps, the most interesting reading for this young man seems to have had his sling at every phase of life. He is a full fledged colonel at the age of thirty-two and has on several occasions shown his father that he has no mind of his own—a chip off the old block. The father and son have clashed a number of times and on one occasion he was sent away or a long hunting trip after one of these stormy meetings. The young man married to please himself, and he pleased Berlin as well when he chose Cecilia, the Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, for the future Empress. This Princess, who is half Russian and more French than German, is wonderfully popular throughout Germany, and her little trifles with her father-in-law form choice bits of gossip in Court circles.

The Crown Prince is fairly saturated with militarism, and at one time it was stated that it was the Crown Prince and not the Emperor who was responsible for the present war. It is well known that war plans were pretty well perfected before the Emperor returned home from Norway where he was cruising on his yacht. This coupled with the impetuous independence of the Crown Prince gives added strength to the truth of the story. As Colonel of the Death's Head Hussars, the Crown Prince is famed for his dare devil horsemanship and leading his squadron of dragons up the terraced steps of the Sans Souci Palace at Potsdam and holding high jinks with them at the crest. His ride in a perilous steeplechase caused him to spend some time in quarters under arrest.

Adventure appeals to him, and riding in a Zeppelin and violating the speed limit in a ninety horse power motor car are his chief delights. He is not averse to flirtations with pretty actresses, and some of these escapades have been the talk of Berlin. Above all, however, he is a Hohenzollern and his chief delight is in soldiering. He has an ardent admiration for Napoleon, and the rooms of the marble palace at Potsdam are filled with pictures, statuettes, busts, medallions, engravings, and other memorials of the great Corsican conqueror. The Crown Prince is said to be the idol of the German army.

Five Sturdy Princes.

Eltel Friedrich, the second son of the Emperor, is of an entirely different type both in make up and manner for where the Crown Prince is tall and slender Eltel Friedrich is stout and heavy set. He, too, is military but not because he loves the service and it would be if the German army was as well paid as that of the United States. The pay of the German

The Army.

The German army, of which the Emperor is in supreme command, is perhaps the finest disciplined body of men in the world. The strength of the army in time of peace is 850,000, with 4,430,000 reservists, which in time of war would bring the army up more than 5,000,000 men.

To the American the cost of maintaining such an army seems appalling, and it would be if the German army was as well paid as that of the United States. The pay of the German private is a mere trifle, the lowest grade receiving (after the cost of their food is deducted) about three cents per day, while the higher ones receive from ten to fifteen cents per day. Even the pay of the officers is ludicrously small from an American point of view. A lieutenant receives for the first three years $25.00 per month; from his fourth to sixth year, $425.00 per annum; from the seventh to ninth year, $495.00, and from the tenth to twelfth year, $560.00, and after that $600.00 a year. A captain after serving nine years is paid $1,257.00 a year. Only eight out of one hundred officers ever attain to the command of a regiment. A commanding general receives $3,495.00—the largest salary paid. A small amount is added to this for house rent, keep of horses, travelling, etc.

All soldiers and officers travel at reduced rates on railways and are allowed a certain amount of baggage free. They usually marry rich girls.

Every Man A Soldier.

Germany has no professional army like our own. Every German who is physically able must serve, at least as a reservist, from the age of seventeen to forty-five. Those in the infantry serve two years and those of the cavalry and horse artillery and mounted rifles three years; after this they will not be called upon except in case of war.

There are several thousand men who join the army voluntarily for a term of two or three years and then re-enlist and become non-commissioned officers. Should they remain in service for twelve years they are entitled to $200.00 on leaving the service. They are then eligible for positions on the railway, police, postal, street cleaning and other public services.

Even the daughter of the family, the Princess Victoria Louise, who married the Duke of Brunswick, is the honorary colonel of a regiment and on special occasion she rides with them on parade.

The Army.

The German army, of which the Emperor is in supreme command, is perhaps the finest disciplined body of men in the world. The strength of the army in time of peace is 850,000, with 4,430,000 reservists, which in time of war would bring the army up more than 5,000,000 men.

The German army is an educated body, for education up to fifteen years is compulsory.

Equipment.

The infantry is armed with Mauser magazine rifles of the 1898 model, while the cavalry carry the Mauser winter and fifteen of her crew drowned.

Picturesque Marine View.
Just back of the Unterland, as the lower town is called, is a flight of steps which leads to the Oberland. They are cut out of the solid rock and are rough and not easy to climb, especially if the climber wears thin sole shoes. A lift near by, however, carries passengers to the top for a trifling sum. From the edge of the Oberland one looks out over the little red roofed houses of the lower town. In time of peace the view is a pretty one, fishing boats all about and ships riding at anchor far out to sea. Down at the end of the island men appear like so many ants. Further away the bathing beach glistens like a bar of silver striped with emeralds.

No Photographing Allowed.
The Government is especially strict about pictures of the harbor, but a writer, by hiding behind posts at houses succeeded in securing a photograph. They even object to picturing of street scenes, and the person who tries to make photographs in any part of Heligoland is not a happy one.

The whole place fairly bristles with military operations. Barracks which will house hundreds of men have been constructed. A powerful wireless station is in operation; a sea wall has been constructed around the island and guns have been stuck in every corner of the rocks. Thousands of dollars have been spent to make the lump of red rock the Gibraltar of the North Sea. It is expected to be of great value to Germany as Gibraltar and Malta are to England. Military experts declare that had Germany owned Heligoland in 1870 the blockade of the Elbe and Weser by the French fleet in the early part of the war would have been impossible.

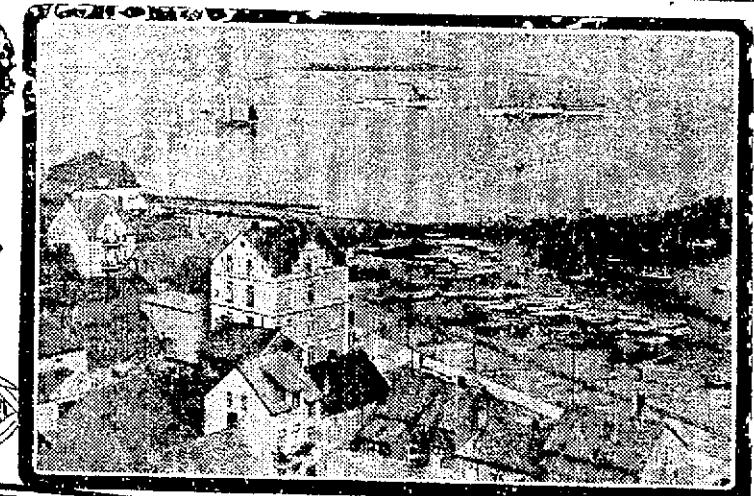

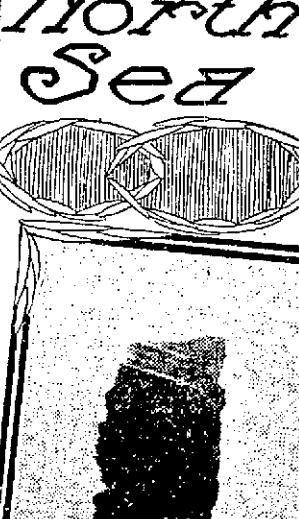

Apart from the military aspect, little island is interesting especially to those who love the sea. The two thousand natives are industrious and sober. Their principal means of living is by fishing. They pay little attention to visitors, and are clannish. Their patriotism is of a queer type—they love Heligoland, and tolerate the ruler of the nation who happens to own the island. For instance, when it was an English possession they celebrated Queen Victoria's golden jubilee with the greatest pomp, while at present the Kaiser's birthday or any other German holiday is observed with equal loyalty. Their language is peculiar and seems to be German spoken with a Danish accent. Dancing is their particular amusement and dances are numerous.

German war experts attach the greatest importance to Heligoland and expect it to prove a tower of strength on account of the great height of the batteries, and because of their range a close blockade of the mouth of the Elbe is practically out of the question. It would be a difficult matter to carry Heligoland owing to the steepness of the cliffs.

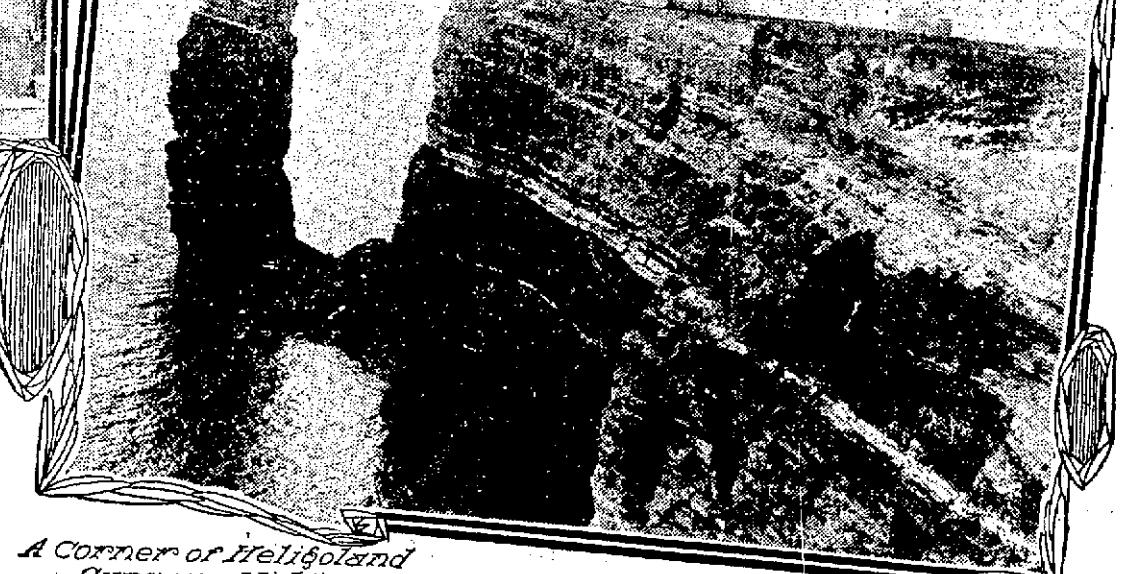

HELIGOLAND

The Gibraltar of the North Sea

MAYOR STREET IN THE UNTERLAND

Scene from Top of Cliff

A Corner of Heligoland
Guns are Hidden in the recesses of these Rocks

How a Little Lump of Red Rock in the North Sea Has Become a Great German Fort.

Green is the land, red is the rock, white is the strand. These are the colors of Heligoland.

GREEN land, red rock, white strand—nothing could be more descriptive of the little island of the North Sea than these colors. At present "gray are the guns" must be added to complete the description now that the island has become a part of Germany. It has changed from a peaceful excursion ground into a veritable porcupine. Hidden away in the red rocks are immense disappearing guns which can be brought out with as much ease as a porcupine raises its quills at the first scent of danger. Just after Austria declared war on Serbia all merchant marine shipping ceased at Heligoland and only the German Navy was allowed to come near the island. The great guns came out from the hidden recesses in the rocks, and Germany made ready for the enemy who might attempt to enter the Fatherland from this section. The "Königin Louise," which had been converted into a mine ship, ruined this channel, but was finally sunk by the British. Later the "Amphion," one of the smaller British Cruisers was unfortunate enough to be blown up by one of the mines which had been laid by the vessel destroyed the day before. The disaster occurred not far from Heligoland according to the dispatches.

Belonged To English.

Only a few years ago Heligoland belonged to England and had it been in her possession at the present time it can be readily understood how valuable it would have been to that country.

It is a quaint little place rarely visited by Americans, who know it best by its lighthouses which is one of the most powerful in the world, sweeping for many miles over the treacherous waves of the North Sea. The nationality of the island has undergone the fortunes and vicissitudes of war, of intrigue, and of international negotiations until it has finally ceded to Schleswig-Holstein and receded to Denmark—this interchange having taken place several times. Its nationality changing so rapidly that it finally became known as a fortress in the North Sea which protecs a number of her ports. Photographing anywhere on the island is strictly forbidden, and the writer was arrested while making the accompanying pictures, but by a ruse saved the films. It is practically impossible to picture the guns as soldiers are stationed at each of them. Two of the soldiers are constantly on guard with field glasses—one watching different parts of the island and another looking far out to sea as though hourly expecting an invasion.

Eight Hours From Hamburg.

The writer went to Heligoland from Hamburg, sailing down the Elbe River into the North Sea—sail of about eight hours. At first the island seemed like a cloud on the horizon, but as the ship came nearer the mass of red rock presented a rather formidable sight, as well as picturesque appearance. A small ledge of white strand on the south is the only place where even a small boat can land, and here on this ledge is a cluster of quaint houses including several small summer hotels. On the rim of the rock which rises precipitately nearly two hundred feet above is a sister village with a church tower, a huge lighthouse, and a wireless station as the predominating features.

Small Island.

The island is only one mile long from the pier to the Nordcap (a rock on the far end), and a quarter of a mile wide at the widest part. There are few trees and no picturesque ruins to study, and no running water anywhere on the island. The drinking water used is either caught in cisterns or imported. On the island, there are no beasts of burden, and many children who live there have never seen a horse except in pictures. The largest vehicle for carrying purposes is a wheelbarrow—the streets being too narrow for the passage of anything wider. A few sheep and goats are tethered on the top of the rocks or Oberland, as the upper rim of the island is called. Some of the islanders possess pets in the shape of cats and dogs, and these may be seen in the yards of the tiny houses which line the narrow streets. These highways, like everything else on the island, are scrupulously clean. On the water front there is a casino much frequented by the officers of the German army and navy. Occasionally their friends come up for a week's end visit and Saturday night is a gala one for Heligoland society.

Bathing Beach.

About a quarter of a mile from the island proper is a strip of sand, at one time a part of Heligoland, but the connecting link was finally broken by the relentless waves and now the visitor must go to the Duna in a boat. Portable bath houses are set up on the beach with a man and a woman as attendants. The woman looks after the bath houses while the man, a rugged old fisherman, acts as a life saver—not by going out to rescue but by warning the bathers when they go out too far. There is a life saving corps on the island, and these men tell thrilling stories of their desperate fight to save the lives of the men whose ships are battered by the waves during the long winter season. It will be remembered that a Zeppelin dirigible was lost in one of these storms last

The Quick Results Obtained By the Want Ads. Necessitate Quick Action On the Part of Those Wishing to Take Advantage of Their Offerings.

There Is a Demand Now For Second Hand Articles

Have you a stove which you are replacing with a new one? SOME ONE WANTS IT. Advertise it.

Have you articles of furniture for which you have no room? SOME ONE WANTS THEM. Advertise them.

Possibly you have serviceable clothes you do not need. SOME ONE NEEDS THEM. Advertise them.

There are any number of things about the house you do not need. SOME ONE WANTS THEM. Advertise them for sale in these columns. The money will be very acceptable to you, wouldn't it?

Costs one cent per word, 25% cash discount. No ad taken for less than 25c.

WANTED—To buy second-hand stoves and ranges. Talk to Lowell. 6-9-12-6t

WANTED—A home where I can go to school and work around the house evenings and before school. Call after 6 p.m., Bell phone 2026. 6-9-11-2t

WANTED TO BUY—Baby cab. must be a bargain. Address "Bargain," Gazette. 6-9-11-3t

BAD CHIMNEYS cause bad fires. Make them safe before cold weather is here. Consult the chimney man. New phone 1282 Black. 6-9-12-4t

WANTED, BOARD & ROOMS.

GOOD BOARD is always in demand. Why not let the "homeless" know you can take a boarder or two and give them home cooked meals?

FURNISHED ROOMS TO RENT

THE ROOMS YOU WANT may not be here but the owners might answer your ad under another classification.

WANTED—Young lady to board and room in private family. Address Mrs. Sander, 111 W. Milwaukee street, over Mrs. Woodstock's. 1-8-12-tread

SITUATION WANTED, FEMALE.

A GIRL OR WOMAN who advertises here deserves more pay on account of her energy and determination.

SITUATION WANTED, MALE

MR. EMPLOYER, if this column does not describe a man who will fill your requirements your ad on this page will bring him to you.

WANTED—Place to work driving team either for dry or heavy work, am well acquainted with city. Address "A" care Gazette. 2-9-12-1t

MALE HELP WANTED

IF THERE ARE NO POSITIONS open here for you try advertising in a position yourself. Give the Gazette an address if you like.

WANTED—Girl for general house-work. Inquire 606 Court St. Mrs. W. V. Wreecock. 4-9-12-1t

LADIES—Our illustrated catalogue explains how we teach hairdressing in a few weeks. Mailed free. Write College, 105 S. Fifth Ave. 4-9-12-1t

WANTED—An experienced cook and second maid. References required. Inquire Gazette. 4-9-11-2t

WANTED—Immediately, girls for private houses and hotels. Mrs. L. McCarthy. Both phones. 4-9-7-4t

MALE HELP WANTED

POSITIONS ARE OPEN to men, of course. If you want something better, advertise under another heading.

WANTED—Salesman to sell Lubricating oils, House and Barn Paint and Specialties. His profits. Write Moler College, Milwaukee, Wis. 5-9-12-6t

WANTED—Two bell boys, porter and chamber maid at the Grand Hotel. 4-9-9-3t

FLATS FOR RENT

A GOOD WARM FLAT will be nice this winter. If you do not see anything to suit you here, advertise for it under "flats wanted."

FOR RENT—Two modern steam heated flats. Apply F. L. Stevens, Lovejoy block. 4-9-12-1t

FOR RENT—Modern steam heated flat. 32 South Main St. M. P. Kitchardson. 11-9-12-1t

FOR RENT—A four room furnished flat. 21 N. Pearl St. Mrs. W. S. Sutton. 4-9-12-1t

FOR RENT—Modern flat, 431 Madison street. 4-9-11-1t

FOR RENT—One modern flat, also a 6-room house, on the east side. Modern. Inquire 317 Dodge, T. E. Mackin. 4-9-8-3t

FOR RENT—5-room flat, steam heat, centrally located. Carter & Morse. 4-8-24-1t

HOUSES FOR RENT

IT'S A GOOD CITY where few houses are for rent. There will be houses for rent later which you can get an option by advertising for it.

FOR RENT—Six room house at 222 Park St. Phone or call Dr. E. Loomis' residence. 11-9-12-1t

FOR RENT—House, corner Walker and Monroe streets. City and water. Builders Exchange office, over Ziegler's store. Phone 673-12-1t

FOR RENT—Six room house, 1002 Olive street. Inquire 1002 Olive street. 11-9-12-1t

FOR RENT—Modern house in fine neighborhood, near in. Address "House" care Gazette. 11-9-11-6t

FOR RENT—Seven room house on Washington street. John Cunningham, 23 West Milwaukee. 11-9-10-3t

FOR RENT—New modern 6 room house, good location and neighborhood. Inquire F. H. Farnsworth, 228 S. Wisconsin. 11-9-10-3t

FOR RENT—House at 327 Madison St. Inquire phone 720 Blue. 11-9-8-6t

FOR RENT—House, Old phone 1452. 11-9-8-5t

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

REAL BARGAINS in musical instruments are daily advertised.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

OPPORTUNITY comes only to hustlers. If you are you are busy, a Gazette want ad will hustle for you by proxy.

HORSES AND CARRIAGES

ARE YOU INTERESTED in buying or selling a horse or carriage? Place your advertisement here and your desires will be accomplished.

SAVING RUGS—From old grain bags and old carpets, also rag rugs and carpers. Old phone 291. Neilsen, 1227 S. Cherry St. 6-9-11-2t

THE RATE FOR ADVERTISEMENTS in these classified columns is one cent per word per insertion. Minimum insertion less than 25c accepted. Cash discount 25 percent if paid at time of insertion. Charge accounts 1 cent per word.

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.

WHEN YOU THINK of insurance, think of C. P. Beers. 1-23-1t

IT IS GOOD HARDWARE, McNamee has it.

ZEBRAS HONED—250, Preimo Bros.

27-ft.

QUALITY CANDIES AT RAZOOKS.

27-ft.

FOR GOOD GOODS talk to Lowell.

1-16-30-1t

HOLLAND FURNACES make warm friends. F. F. Van Coevern. Both phones.

1-16-16-1t

FOR SALE—Second hand 30 h. p. alternating current motor; first class condition. Cheap for quick sale. M. A. Jersch, Electrical Contractor, 422 Lincoln St., Both phones. 1-8-6-1t

THE BUSINESS HOUSES advertising in this column value your patronage enough to spend money going after it.

S. TAYLOR VOICE CULTURE—Accurate placement and development of the voice. Central Block, Janesville, Wis. 1-16-16-1t

CARPENTRY, MASONRY, PAINTING—Nothing but expert workmen. My price will save you money. Get my figures on your work. Edwin Long, 355 Eastern Ave., Bell phone 18-1-1-1t

MANUFACTURER AND DEALER in hair Goods. Wigs made to order. Mrs. Sadler, 111 W. Milwaukee street, over Mrs. Woodstock's. 1-8-12-tread

SITUATION WANTED, FEMALE.

A GIRL OR WOMAN who advertises here deserves more pay on account of her energy and determination.

SITUATION WANTED, MALE

MR. EMPLOYER, if this column does not describe a man who will fill your requirements your ad on this page will bring him to you.

WANTED—Place to work driving team either for dry or heavy work, am well acquainted with city. Address "A" care Gazette. 2-9-12-1t

MALE HELP WANTED

IF THERE ARE NO POSITIONS open here for you try advertising in a position yourself. Give the Gazette an address if you like.

WANTED—Girl for general house-work.

Inquire 606 Court St. Mrs. W. V. Wreecock. 4-9-12-1t

WANTED—Immediately, girls for private houses and hotels.

Mrs. L. McCarthy. Both phones. 4-9-7-4t

MALE HELP WANTED

POSITIONS ARE OPEN to men, of course. If you want something better, advertise under another heading.

WANTED—Salesman to sell Lubricating oils, House and Barn Paint and Specialties. His profits.

Write Moler College, Milwaukee, Wis. 5-9-12-6t

WANTED—Two bell boys, porter and chamber maid at the Grand Hotel.

4-9-9-3t

FLATS FOR RENT

A GOOD WARM FLAT will be nice this winter. If you do not see anything to suit you here, advertise for it under "flats wanted."

FOR RENT—Two modern steam heated flats.

Apply F. L. Stevens, Lovejoy block. 4-9-12-1t

FOR RENT—Modern steam heated flat.

32 South Main St. M. P. Kitchardson. 11-9-12-1t

FOR RENT—A four room furnished flat.

21 N. Pearl St. Mrs. W. S. Sutton. 4-9-12-1t

FOR RENT—Modern flat,

431 Madison street. 4-9-11-1t

FOR RENT—One modern flat, also a 6-room house, on the east side.

Modern. Inquire 317 Dodge, T. E. Mackin. 4-9-8-3t

FOR RENT—5-room flat, steam heat, centrally located.

Carter & Morse. 4-8-24-1t

HOUSES FOR RENT

IT'S A GOOD CITY where few houses are for rent. There will be houses for rent later which you can get an option by advertising for it.

FOR RENT—Six room house at 222 Park St.

Phone or call Dr. E. Loomis' residence. 11-9-12-1t

FOR RENT—House, corner Walker and Monroe streets.

City and water. Builders Exchange office, over Ziegler's store. Phone 673-12-1t

FOR RENT—Six room house, 1002 Olive street.

Inquire 1002 Olive street. 11-9-12-1t

FOR RENT—Modern house in fine neighborhood, near in.

Address "House" care Gazette. 11-9-11-6t

FOR RENT—Seven room house on Washington street.

John Cunningham, 23 West Milwaukee. 11-9-10-3t

FOR RENT—New modern 6 room house, good location and neighborhood.

Inquire F. H. Farnsworth, 228 S. Wisconsin. 11-9-10-3t

FOR RENT—House at 327 Madison St.

Phone 720 Blue. 11-9-8-6t

HOUSES WANTED

KEEPING ONE EYE ON THIS PAGE will save house owners from buying empty houses. You can rent easier by advertising.

WANTED LOANS

MONEY GROWS when it is worked. A little spent on this page will bring plenty of opportunities to work.

FARMS TO LET

BACK TO THE FARM may be the best solution. If you don't find a farm here advertise for it.

WANTED TO RENT ROOMS

BY WATCHING THIS SPACE the Gazette may rent out her rooms, can fill them quicker by advertising for rent.

WANTED, MISCELLANEOUS.

OPPORTUNITY comes only to hustlers. If you are you are busy, a Gazette want ad will hustle for you by proxy.

HORSES AND CARRIAGES

ARE YOU INTERESTED in buying or selling a horse or carriage? Place your advertisement here and your desires will be accomplished.

SAVING RUGS—From old grain bags and old carpets, also rag rugs and carpers. Old phone 291. Neilsen, 1227 S. Cherry St. 6-9-11-2t

FOR SALE—Good strong ink barrels at 50¢ each. Gazette Price. Co. 13-7-30-1t

FOR SALE—Complete map of Rock County, showing all roads, schools, towns, villages, cities, railroads, farms with number of acres and all information. Printed on strong bond paper, handy size. Price 25¢ or free with a year's advance subscription to the Daily Gazette.

BICYCLE SUPPLIES—Preimo Brothers. 13-11-29-1t

Homes of Character.

J.M. BOSTWICK & SONS.

Our Great Second Floor

We make homes cozy because it is our business to do so. There exists in the heart of every home-loving woman the desire to have everything properly harmonized and coordinated thus making the home comfortable and attractive. We know of no other store which so fully comprehends the requirements for artistic decoration of homes of every class or which provides so lavishly the needed materials.

TWO EXHIBITS

That will meet with your approval are the exhibits of Corbin's Builders' Hardware by H. L. McNamara and the Holland Furnace by F. F. Van Coevern at the Builders' Exchange in the East Side Carle Block, over Ziegler's.

CEMENT BUILDING BLOCKS

Best grade cement building blocks; made by experts; prices are absolutely right. Shall be glad to furnish estimates for you.

J. A. DENNING

MASTER BUILDER. 60 S. FRANKLIN ST.

TORRID ZONE FURNACES

Will give you the greatest amount of radiating service possible.

Radiating surface in a furnace is what makes a furnace valuable for without such radiating service your heat will go up the chimney.

Talk to LOWELL

What promises to be a mighty helpful thing for the residents of Janesville owning homes that were built without provision being made for the use of electricity, is the campaign that we will launch in a short time.

There is no gainsaying that one of the greatest factors in our present life is electricity. The great element doing the drudgery, which in olden times our own hands were forced to do is electricity. In other words the progressive world's slogan is:

Do It Electrically.

Janesville Electric Co.

Call On E. H. Pelton For All Kinds of Sheet Metal Work and Gutter Work.

Steel ceilings and roofing. New furnaces installed. Old furnaces repaired. In fact, all kinds of tin and sheet metal work. All work guaranteed.

E. H. PELTON

East Milwaukee Street. Repairs of All Kinds.

WALL PAPERS, PAINTS, PICTURES

Everything that goes to make the home beautiful. Diehls can supply you with valuable suggestions and can save you money. We'll be glad to furnish you with ideas that you may desire and make no charge for this service.

C. W. DIEHLS

THE ART STORE. 26 W. MILW. ST.

JORSCH FOR ELECTRICAL WORK

I can save you money. Let me estimate your next wiring or other electrical job. Expert work guaranteed at reasonable prices. Just phone

M. A. JORSCH

PRACTICAL ELECTRICIAN. 422 LINCOLN STREET. BOTH PHONES. JANESEVILLE, WIS.

A Dutch Colonial Cottage—By John Henry Newson.

"Home of Character, No. 169"

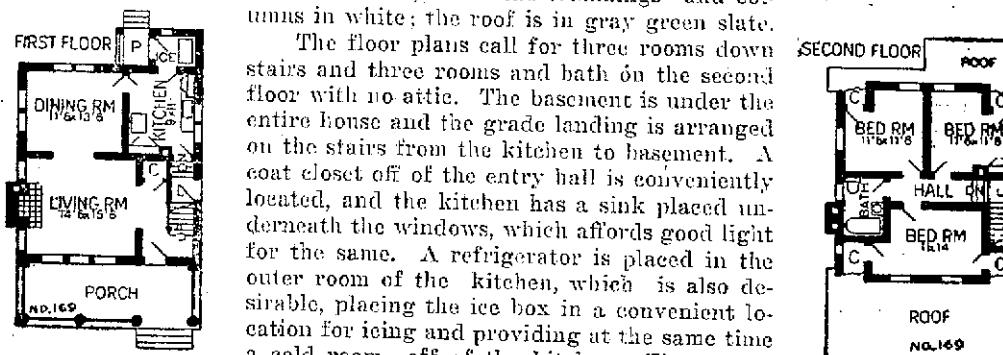

A small cottage worked out with wide siding upon the walls and with a slate roof, which presents a pleasing appearance to the eye and possesses the high degree of character that is always apparent in the Dutch Colonial type of residence architecture. The foundation is of rough shale brick, the same as the chimneys, and the side walls are painted cream color, with the trimmings and columns in white; the roof is in gray green slate.

The floor plans call for three rooms down stairs and three rooms and bath on the second floor with no attic. The basement is under the entire house and the grade landing is arranged on the stairs from the kitchen to basement. A coat closet off of the entry hall is conveniently located, and the kitchen has a sink placed underneath the windows, which affords good light for the same. A refrigerator is placed in the outer room of the kitchen, which is also desirable, placing the ice box in convenient location for icing and providing at the same time a cold room off of the kitchen. The second floor has three bedrooms grouped around a small hall and each bedroom has a closet under the roof, while the front bedroom has a window in one of the closets.

This design, 24x27 feet, can be built for about $2500, using a good grade of material, and complete equipment throughout.

Inquiries answered if addressed to "John Henry Newson," care of "Homes of Character Dept., " "The Gazette". Always give number of house.

These chilly mornings and evenings have been just a little uncomfortable. We will have many more of them.

Install a Gas Heating Stove and Be Comfortable

Simply strike a match, turn on the gas, Presto! a cozy room in a few minutes.

New Gas Light Company of Janesville

See Our Exhibit of Corbin Builders' Hardware At the Builders' Exchange

H. L. McNAMARA

If It Is Good Hardware McNamara Has It.

FRESE BROS.

West Pleasant Street.

Both Phones.

JANESEVILLE BRICK WORKS

Manufacturers and dealers of Clay Products.

We handle every kind of good facing brick, fire brick, fire clay hollow tile and highest grade of motor colors and wall ties.

Let us figure on your brick work

Great Northern Life Insurance Company of Wausau, Wisconsin

ORVILLE BROCKETT

Both Phones.

510 Jackman Bldg.

Master Builders Method

Master Builders Method is a formula for making concrete floors Wear-proof, Dust-proof and Water-proof. Its adoption by leading factories, stores, printing plants, offices, farm buildings and dwelling basements, and installation by them under varying conditions has proven its efficiency and correctness.

LET US TELL YOU WHY.

Buttingham & Nixon Lumber Co.

Rugs For The New Home

Up on the second floor where the light is best, you will find an unequalled stock of fine rugs and carpets for your selection when you come to furnish your new home.

T. P. BURNS
DRY GOODS, CARPETS, MILLINERY.

Beautiful Home Furnishings

We supplied the furniture for the magnificent new First National Bank Building and can furnish your new home in the same good taste when you are ready.

W. H. ASHCRAFT
FURNITURE RUGS
UNDERTAKING
104 W. MILW. ST.

Hollow Walls of Concrete Steel Reinforced.

For flat buildings there is no better building material; no lathing required on inside; insulation perfect; is most economical. Let me figure on your building.

WM. J. McGOWAN
BUILDER.
1426 Ruger Ave. New Phone Black 1259.

IMPERIAL KEROSENE

Is sold everywhere. Buy it. It will save you money, give more light, and save on the labor account in the home. We guarantee it.

KINNIE & SON
PENNSYLVANIA OILS.
Independent—Not in any Trust. 417 S. Academy St.
Both Phones.